The University of Southern Mississippi Stennis Child Development Center celebrated Earth Day on Thursday by planting three crepe myrtle trees in front of the center. More than two dozen preschoolers participated in the event. The children have been learning about earth day all week at the center. Trees were donated by the dean of science and technology at USM and Four Seasons Nursery. MSS employees helped prepare the site for planting.

Hancock students in the Living Skills Job Shadow program treat themselves to a day of fishing off the Garfield Ladner Pier in Waveland on Friday, April 23. Shelley Underhill, the Job Shadow coordinator, said the students worked two hours a day during the school year. They learned working skills at Goodwill and Dunbar Village and life skills at grocery stores, local government offices and other related places. Underhill and Gay Davis, the students' academic teacher, joined the ninth through 12th graders on Friday for fishing and barbeque as part of the year end celebration.

MDEQ to formally adopt new federal water quality standard requirements

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) will formally adopt new water quality standards to conform with Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) regulations, even though the state testing standards already meet the federal requirements. MDEQ began implementing more stringent water quality standards for monitoring Mississippi beaches and informing the public of the testing results two years before the EPA Beach Act required all states to do so.

In 2000 EPA amended the Clean Water Act through the BEACH (Beaches Environmental Assessment and Coastal Health) Act to add more stringent sampling and notification requirements.

"Mississippi began testing beach waters for enterococci, fecal coliform, and various chemical parameters in 1998," said Phil Bass, Director of Office of Pollution Control at MDEQ. "At the same time we began the Beach Monitoring Program with the Beach Monitoring Task Force and started a public notification program where we advise the public when coastal waters have unacceptable levels of bacteria.

"We wanted to modify the water quality standard regulations at the same time as other planned changes," Bass said.

"However, the studies to validate the other changes will take more time. Because the modification process is so time intensive, we will change the water quality regulations later this year and put in regulation what we have been doing since 1998."

The Beach Monitoring Task Force members include MDEQ, the Mississippi State Board of Health, the Department of Marine Resources, the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, and the Gulf of Mexico Program.

Shoultz selected to carry city flag

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Returning Gulf War veteran and fireman Rusty Shoultz, has been selected by Mayor Eddie Favre to carry the city's flag in the ceremony of flags, the opening event of the 2004 Mississippi Municipal League conference to be held on the coast this June.

"We are proud of Rusty's service to his country and grateful that he returned to his community safe and sound.

He is a local hero, representing all local heroes that have and are fighting for their homeland against terrorism.

He is also a local hero representing the fire and police services and walks in memory of those gallant men and women who lost their lives in the 9/11 tragedy," Favre said. The ceremony of flags began to honor the men and women of public safety services at the first MML conference following 9/11. Bay Saint Louis firemen raised more than $40,000 to aid the families of firemen who lost their lives in their rescue mission at the New York City Twin Towers. They were joined in these efforts throughout the state by firefighters of other communities.

"Bay Saint Louis is one of the first cities announced at the opening ceremonies and we are all filled with emotion when our city flag makes its entrance. We know that Rusty will represent us with dignity," Favre said.

Pass Tour of Homes is May 2

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Pass Christian Historical Society will host its annual tour of homes on May 2. The tour is particularly important this year because proceeds will help to defray the expenses the Society has incurred with the acquisition and preservation of the Old Town Library, the most historic public building in Pass Christian. Anything you could do to help us publicize the tour would be greatly appreciated.

The Pass Christian Historical Society (a non-profit organization designated 501(c)(3) by the Internal Revenue Service), will host its annual Tour of Homes on Sunday, May 2, 2004, from 1:30 to 5:00 p.m. This event allows the public the rare opportunity to see inside of some of Pass Christian's most beautiful and historic homes.

This year, five homes will be open for tour. Additionally, the Old Town Library, recently acquired by the Historical Society, will be open to the public for the first time in nearly ten years.

Ticket price is $15 for adults and $10 for children 12 and under.

If you need any further information, please call Richard Ward, President Pass Christian Historical Society at 452-2014.

Naval Oceanographic Office commanding officer retires; Lumpkin assumes command

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Naval Oceanographic Office (NAVOCEANO) Commanding Officer, Capt. Philip J. Renaud, retired after 25 years of Naval service at a Change of Command/Retirement Ceremony at John C. Stennis Space Center on Friday, April 23.

Capt. R. Parker Lumpkin assumed command of the 1,100 employee oceanographic office as interim Commanding Officer until Capt. Jeffery Best assumes the position on July 2, 2004.

During the ceremony, Capt. Renaud reflected on his 25 years of naval service and his experience commanding NAVOCEANO, which is responsible for providing oceanographic products and services to all elements of the Department of Defense.

He stressed the importance of the Command's mission to U.S. Navy forces and complimented his colleagues and employees telling them that "nobody does operational oceanography better than the people of NAVOCEANO." RDML Timothy McGee (Sel.), Special Assistant to the Oceanographer of the Navy, served as the ceremony's guest speaker.

Captain Renaud and his family will relocate to Annapolis, Md., where he will become Executive Director of the Khaled bin Sultan Living Oceans Foundation dedicated to the conservation and restoration of the living oceans.

DMR receives grants to create oyster beds in Bay of St. Louis

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources (DMR) was recently approved by the Gulf of Mexico Foundation for an award of $24,990 and by the Fish America Foundation for an award of $29,990 for the "Creation of Oyster Reefs to Improve Coastal Water Quality & Critical Fish Habitat." The DMR will participate in a joint research project that will plant oyster beds in selected areas to demonstrate the oyster's ability to improve water quality. Reef construction will begin the week of April 26, 2004.

About 900 cubic yards of cultch material (oyster shells) will be planted on the eastern side of the Bay of St. Louis near Mallini Bayou, south of the Wolf River, which is within the boundaries of the Wolf River Marsh Coastal Preserve Gulf Ecological Management Site (GEMS). About 1,000 cubic yards of cultch material will be planted at the site in Biloxi's Back Bay east of Interstate 10 near D'Iberville. About 50 cubic yards of live oysters will be transferred to each site after the reef construction to spawn and create oyster spat (larvae) that will settle for future growth of the reef.

Each reef will be located in waters closed to oyster harvesting and will provide a beneficial sanctuary for adult oysters.

"By creating these reefs we are hoping to monitor and assess the long-term impact that shellfish have on water quality and their ability to create essential fish habitat," said DMR Staff Officer Joe Jewell. "Additionally, a final component of this project is public outreach and education. The University of Southern Mississippi's J.L. Scott Aquarium will develop an exhibit to educate the public on the importance of habitat restoration and the filtering capacity of oysters."

The DMR has partnered with six organizations on these grants including, Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium, Coastal Conservation Association, Mississippi Gulf Fishing Banks, University of Southern Mississippi's J.L. Scott Aquarium, The Nature Conservancy and the Office of Congressman Gene Taylor. The project is funded in part through the Gulf of Mexico Community-Based Habitat Restoration Program, the Gulf Ecological Management Sites Program and the NOAA Community Based Restoration Program.

The DMR will monitor the reefs using side scan sonar, diving and hook and line surveys to measure the success of the reefs.

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources is dedicated to enhancing, protecting and conserving marine interests of the State by managing all marine life, public trust wetlands, adjacent uplands and waterfront areas to provide for the optimal commercial, recreational, educational and economic uses of these resources consistent with environmental concerns and social changes. Visit the DMR at www.dmr.state.ms.us.

Imagine, turtles, and colors to highlight library story hours

Imagine is the theme for the story hour at the Waveland Public Library on Tuesday, April 27, at 10:30 a.m. Karen Cotton, branch manager, will read Giggle Goggle Quack, I Know a Rhino and Giraffes Can't Dance. Children will make a craft.

Patchwork Turtles is the theme of the story hour at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library on Wednesday, April 28, at 10:30 a.m. Susan Daigre, program coordinator, will read The Hare & The Tortoise, The Grouchy Ladybug and Smile If You're Human. Children will make a patchwork turtle collage.

Colors is the theme for the story at the Kiln Public Library on Thursday, April 29, at 10:30 a.m. Karen Strange will read Brown Bear Brown Bear, Go Away Big Green Monster and The Crayon Box That Talked. Children will receive a color book.

Weekly story hours are held September through May. Programs last approximately one half hour, depending upon subject matter and planned activity.

Programs and activities are designed for pre-school age children three to five years old who are not part of a nursery or pre-school group.

For individual branch story hour information, contact Jamie Elston, Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library, 467-5282; Sandra Ladner, Kiln Public Library, 255-1724; or Karen Cotton, Waveland Public Library, 467-9240.

Benefit for Ed Thornton

There will be a benefit at VFW Post 4808 in Lakeshore beginning at 10 a.m. on Saturday, May 1, for cancer patient Eddie Thornton. Shooting match, raffle, live band, food.

Blessing of the Fleet is Sunday

The 28th Annual Blessing of the Fleet will be held April 25 in Pass Christian.

Events will begin at 1 p.m. in the East Harbor. Prizes and a money drawing will be available for all boats entered. Boats must be registered by noon. All boats are welcome.

Cooks still needed for red bean event

According to reports I received on Friday, there is still the need for more cooks to participate in the 15th Annual American Cancer Society's Red Beans and Rice Cook-Off fund-raiser.

And the good news that it is still not too late to join in a fun time which helps a very worthy organization — the American Cancer Society.

Bay Mayor Eddie Favre, general chairman, is still looking for folks who can really cook red beans.

This year's fund-raiser will be held Monday, May 3, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Casino Magic's Entertainment Complex.

This is really a fun time for all those who participate.

For further information contact Barbara Redding at 228-467-9092 (Bay City Hall), or Sandra Hoda, 228-467-4425.

On Friday, in honor of National Volunteer Week, the city of Waveland and the Retired Senior Volunteer Program honored several nominees who were chosen to be recognized for their volunteer service in our community.

Volunteers play an important role in our community, as many folks give back to the community by volunteering for so many projects and functions.

Waveland Mayor Tommy Longo and JoAnn Lagasse, RSVP executive director, presented special certificates for the nominees, who all were so deserving.

A cake and punch reception followed the presentations.

I realize there are many newcomers to our area and if you, or anyone else is interested in becoming a volunteer, give RSVP at call at 228-467-9204 for further information.

The "hit" of the year had to have been the Hancock County Historical Society's display of the Anthony "Tony" Scafidis photos at the Historic Depot.

There was a crowd every day this past week and who knows there may be future showings too.

As I have told several folks, many of the things we know, unless they are recorded some place will be lost 50 or so years down, or should I say up the road.

If you have photos of events, people, places, activities, etc., that took place years ago, the Hancock County Historical Society would be happy to make copies of these and have them for future generations.

The Society's telephone number is 228-467-4090.

Mississippians choose to lead

Mississippi has produced some of the world's most significant artists, writers, politicians, business leaders and humanitarians.

Though materially poor, our state has always been rich in human resources, and too much of that potential has left our state upon maturity. I believe that's changing, and the University of Mississippi's new leadership institute is just one example of how Mississippians are choosing to lead — not necessarily for someone somewhere else, but for Mississippi.

Having this new, privately-funded institute named after me was probably one of the most humbling experiences of my life, and I certainly didn't choose it. If fact, I was a bit uncomfortable with such an honor. When this leadership curriculum and facility was envisioned back in 1999, I told Ole Miss Chancellor Robert Khayat that I'd lend my name to it on one condition — that he make sure this institute is not about the namesake. Rather, the Trent Lott Leadership Institute is about Mississippi. It's about making sure that Trent Lott is not the last U.S. Senate Majority Leader from our state, but one of many Mississippians destined for leadership positions in Mississippi's government or in our state's private sector. It's about producing leaders not just from Mississippi but for Mississippi.

FROM THE SENATE

By U.S. Senator

Today I believe Mississippi finally is turning the corner. We're learning how to turn disadvantage into challenge, challenge into opportunity and opportunity into triumph.

We're getting the attention of international business leaders because we're introducing ourselves to them. We're seeing significant investment in our state by international companies because we're asking. We're

Message from Saudi Arabia

As a patriotic American living in a dangerous corner of the world, I am heartened to observe the tremendous strides the Bush administration is making toward reforming the Middle East.

President Bush's call for a democratic Middle East is a bold step forward that is badly needed.

In this region where such basic American rights as freedom of worship, freedom of speech, and freedom of assembly are prohibited, it is a refreshing change of perspective for our President to speak of democracy in this region.

But Bush is not confining his steps to mere rhetoric. He is a man of decisive action. We Americans can be proud that he has liberated two oppressive countries — Afghanistan and Iraq — and has established democratic institutions in both of them.

For example, the development of the recent Iraqi provisional constitution is an enormous achievement by the Bush administration in fostering the winds of freedom and democracy.

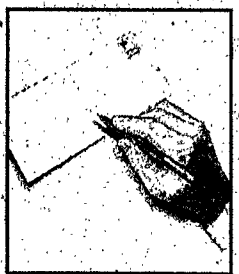

While there is some resistance here to change in the status quo, I sense that people in the Middle East are, down deep, receptive to the opportunity to consider the establishment of democracy and freedom.

Being captives of oppressive regimes, they may not openly call for such change, but I feel they are amenable to it. This is the sense that I get from a street-level perspective of people in the Middle East.

Therefore, now is not the time for America to falter in its campaign to bring peace, freedom, democracy, and justice to the Middle East.

I strongly encourage all my fellow Americans back home to continue to give

D.A.R.E. Graduation

Echo staff photos by Shannon Jenkins
(Above) Local muscle man Charles Hawkins speaks to Bay-Waveland Middle School students on Wednesday, April 21, as part of the school's Drug Abuse Resistance Education (D.A.R.E.) program's graduation ceremony.
(Right) Shannon Garrett, a local banker who plays for a Canadian football team — the Edmonton Eskimos — made an appearance as a guest speaker for the event. D.A.R.E. officer Anderson Hall headed up the event. He said 193 students "graduated" from the program.

D.A.R.E. gets facelift

According to www.dare.com, the program is the pioneer prevention effort founded in Los Angeles in 1983.

The site also stated the program is going high-tech, interactive and decision-model-based. Gleaming with the latest in prevention science and teaching techniques, D.A.R.E. is reinventing itself as part of a major national research study that promises to help teachers and administrators cope with ever-evolving federal prevention program requirements and the thorny issues of school violence, budget cuts, and terrorism.

Gone is the old-style approach to prevention in which an officer stands behind a podium and lectures students in straight rows.

New D.A.R.E. officers are trained as "coaches" to support kids who are using research-based refusal strategies in high-stakes peer-pressure environments.

New D.A.R.E. students of 2004 are getting to see for themselves — via stunning brain imagery — tangible proof of how substances diminish mental activity, emotions, coordination and movement. Mock courtroom exercises are bringing home the social and legal consequences of drug use and violence.

finally getting fair recognition for the kind of state we really are — a friendly place with great cities and counties to call home or to do business.

Most Mississippians agree that education is one of the basic keys to continuing our progress. We may disagree on where the focus should be right now — elementary, secondary or collegiate — but most Mississippians understand that education is critical for our state's continued development.

This institute is an example of Mississippi's determination to improve its educational apparatus. It may well be that this program produces men and women who eventually hold public office at every level of government, or who bring new jobs to Mississippians with their entrepreneurial activities.

It's something that can benefit our entire state and every citizen by nurturing and then keeping our leaders right here where they can do the most good.

Too many young people around our state still feel disadvantaged. They feel like education at a university is not for them, or that it's unattainable.

They live in humble surroundings, and they think they could never be successful, much less lead. Well, I understand that feeling. My dad was a pipefitter who was killed in an automobile accident when I was young. My mother, a school teacher, did her best to raise me with the values of faith and family that most Mississippians share. We didn't have a lot of material blessings, but I believed, and still do, that America is unique among nations. It's not a place where success and leadership is a birthright.

Neither success or leadership has anything to do with where — or to whom — we are born, but they depend on what we do thereafter.

Leadership is not prominence or fame, or even the position one holds. Leadership is what we do for our nation, for our neighbors, our families, and, yes, at times it's what we do to improve our own lives and character.

If you are a young person who cares about Mississippi, our communities and our people, I encourage you to find a way to serve this state. The Leadership Institute at Ole Miss may be one way to pursue that.

If not, I encourage you to set high standards in whatever endeavor or direction you choose. If you do, you'll be successful, and you'll lead. Chances are you won't be the first leader from Mississippi in your particular field, but you may be part of a historic new generation of Mississippians not satisfied with leading just anywhere, but determined to lead right here at home in Mississippi.

'Brett Favre Day' close at hand

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The dedication of the life-size statue of Hancock County's favorite son and Brett Favre Day is close at hand. The official ceremony will take place on Saturday, May 8, at Hawk Stadium. However, work has begun in earnest to prepare the site for the festivities.

A work crew was on campus Friday preparing part of the granite base for the 600-lb bronze statue of the former Hawk great. Event co-chair Rocky Gaudin stated, "We have had a real strong response all over the Gulf Coast for this event. We are very close to where we want to be but we still have work to do to get us over the top. Also, we have received donations from as far away as Arizona, Wisconsin and Chicago, Illinois. We are looking forward to a great day of festivities and some terrific weather to go along with it."

Casino Magic has been a tremendous help, as well. They have been extremely kind to us, especially with the Patron Party on May 7th. There have been several other local corporations that have stepped forward in support of this event. We are still in search of a sponsor for the commemorative t-shirts that are being produced for the day.

The statue is being created by Mississippi sculptor Edmund Schupert of Euporia. His work is on display in Epcot Center in Orlando, Disney World Japan, and many other locales.

The statue will arrive on May 6th and will be put in place at the field.

Festivities surrounding the event begin on Friday, May 7th with a Patron Party hosted by Casino Magic-Bay St. Louis from 6-8pm. The Patron Party is by invitation only.

At 10am on Saturday,

May 8th the junior varsity/varsity football scrimmages will begin between Hancock, St. Stanislaus, Biloxi and Pascagoula. The scrimmages will last until noon.

ESPN/ABC sportscaster Robin Roberts, mistress of ceremonies, will open the program at 12 noon. Featured speakers include some of Brett Favre's various coaches over the years - Joe Shaw (Junior High), Rocky Gaudin (High School), Jeff Bower (University of Southern Mississippi), Sylvester Croom (Green Bay Packers). Remarks will also be made by Hancock County Superintendent of Education David Kopf and Brett Favre.

Admission to the day's activities on May 8 is $5 per person. No passes are accepted at the event. The concession stand will be open during the day to accommodate the public.

Cuevas & the Crescents claim 3a South State title

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Our Lady Academy Crescents swept West Lauderdale in a double-header on Friday to claim the Class 3A South State championship. The series win pushes OLA (15-11) into the state championship against the winner of the North State series between Nettleton and Caledonia.

OLA won both games over West Lauderdale 1-0. Rachel Cuevas pitched two complete games on Friday without allowing a run.

In the first game, OLA missed out on several opportunities as they stranded 13 runners during the game.

In the top of the fifth inning with a runner in scoring position, OLA right-fielder Rachel Wright made a run-saving catch when she dove for a short flyball in the outfield to end the inning.

OLA got on the board in the bottom of the fifth inning. Jordan Fisher reached base on an error by the shortstop. Fisher stole second base to advance into scoring position during the next at-bat.

Rachel Cuevas helped herself out by smashing a double to leftfield.

Ashley Mayley drew a walk to load the bases.

Adrienne Gannon drove in Fisher when she reached first on a fielder's choice. Following the run that scored for OLA, the West Lauderdale coach was ejected when he argued an umpire's call on the play.

West Lauderdale retired the side but OLA had taken a 1-0 lead following five complete innings of play.

In the top of the sixth inning, West Lauderdale's Ashley Helms led off with a single to rightfield. With one out, Hollie Harrington smacked a double to centerfield; however, OLA's Lakasia Ducksworth prevented a run from scoring by returning the ball back to the catcher from the field.

Still, with one out on the board, Hallie Campbell smacked a fly ball into leftfield which was caught by Erin Casey for the second out. Helms tagged up at third base but Casey gunned her down at home plate from leftfield for the third out to preserve OLA's 1-0 advantage.

OLA was unable to do anything in the bottom of the sixth inning despite a leadoff walk by Megan Besancon and a single by Fisher to leftfield with two outs.

Cuevas retired the side in the top of the seventh to give OLA the 1-0 win. Cuevas fanned 7 batters and scattered three hits in a complete game performance. Cuevas, Wright, and Casey all had two hits for the Crescents in the first game. Fisher added the other hit for OLA.

OLA won the nightcap 1-0 behind another complete game performance by Cuevas on the mound. She completed the sweep of West Lauderdale and propelled the Crescents into the state title series by driving in the winning run, Rebecca Kennedy scored the winning run on Cuevas' hit.

The Crescents will travel to the winner of the Nettleton/Caledonia series on Saturday, May 1, for one game. The state championship series will return to Bay St. Louis on Monday, May 3, when OLA will host a possible double-header at McDonald Field for the Class 3A title.

Locals Ferry, Domke, Musgrove & Bass honored by national group

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

Four area football players were honored on Wednesday, April 21st by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chapter of The National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame. Zac Ferry of Bay St. Louis High School, Robert Domke of Hancock High School, Chad Musgrove of Pass Christian High School and Bob Bass of St. Stanislaus College were the honorees.

Ferry, a senior quarterback for the Bay High Tigers in 2003, has maintained a 99.89 scholastic average while being a four-year letter winner for Bay High at quarterback and defensive back. Ferry has scored a 23 on his ACT and maintained Alpha Honor Roll. He is a member of the National Honor Society and was named the Offensive Player of the Year by The Sea Coast Echo newspaper in 2003. His anticipated field of study is physical therapy.

Domke, a senior quarterback and linebacker for the Hawks, has a 3.2 GPA and has scored a 22 on his ACT. Domke is listed with the Who's Who of American High School Students, the National Honor Society, Beta Club, and Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He has also attended the National Forum on Medicine. During his playing time with the Hawks, Domke was named the defensive MVP of the Shrimp Bowl and a member of the All-Sea Coast Echo first team. He was a three-year letter winner for Hancock. His anticipated field of study is physics.

Musgrove, a senior defensive back for the Pirates, has maintained a 3.8 GPA and scored a 25 on his ACT. He has been a member of Who's Who Among American High School Students, Spanish Honor Society, National Honor Society, and the honor roll. He was chosen second-team All-State, first-team All-Division 8 Class 4A, and first-team All-Sea Coast Echo. His anticipated field of study is pre-med.

Bass, a senior offensive lineman for the Rocks, has scored a 27 on his ACT and maintained a 3.92 GPA. He has been a member of the Honors Program and President's Honor Roll. He is a member of the Leadership Council, National Honor Society, Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the baseball team. He was named to the All-Division 8 Class 4A and All-Sea Coast Echo first teams. His anticipated field of study is graphic design.

Cleaning Up

It was a busy time for County Road Crews at the special Non-Hazardous Debris & Tire collection held in the old Wal-Mart parking lot Saturday. Waveland Mayor Tommy Longo chatted with Sally Carnley, Chamber Beautification Zone Captain, and Heather Ladner, Bay High Rotary Interact President, as county crews unload a load of debris. County Crews working Saturday included: Tom Stockstill, foreman; Robert Cooley, David Carver, Eddie Seal, Clarence Kennedy and Max Ingram. The special cleanup is a project of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Beautification Committee in cooperation with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and Road Crews. Next Saturday a Non-Hazardous Household Rubbish & Debris and Tires collection will take place at the Diamondhead Shopping Center's parking lot from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

days before she was born.

Kergosien is a graduate of St. Stanislaus and was commissioned in 1995 as an officer in the U.S. Army at the University of Mississippi, where he was formerly a cadet in the Army ROTC program, and graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in political science.

The Army captain recently said his replacement was in Iraq and that he would be soon returning home, only to be told several days later that his tour had been extended another 90 days, his father said.

"Leonard has always been focused," his proud father said Friday, adding that Leonard had received a Combat Infantry Badge during the Panama Invasion when he was an Army Specialist.

The Bronze Star Medal was established by Executive Order 9419, in February 1944 (superseded by Executive Order 11046, August 24, 1962).

Ames Kergosien said son Leonard has always been tops in his class in all of his military training and schooling.

At Ole Miss as a ROTC Cadet, he was awarded the American Legion General Military Excellence Award by Lt. Col. Dwight E. Morse, professor of military science at Ole Miss' Rebel Battalion Awards Day. The award is presented to an Ole Miss cadet who demonstrates outstanding qualities in military leadership, discipline, character and citizenship, in addition to being ranked in the top 25% of his class. Kergosien was presented the Color Guard Shoulder Cord, Distinguished Military Students Badge, and the Gold Medal Athlete, Excellence at Advanced Camp, Advanced Graduate, Color Guard, Cadet Honor, Most Improved Grades, ROTC Honors, American Defense Preparedness Association, and the One-Shot-One-Kill Awards.

On the Bronze Star Medal commendation, it was stated: "... His (Kergosien's) dedication to duty and selfless service significantly contributed to the success of the Unit during Combat, Stability, and Support Operations in Iraq. His performance of duty is in keeping with the finest traditions of Military Service and reflects great credit upon himself; The 2nd Armored Cavalry Regiment, Task Force 1st Airborne Division and the United States Army..."

On behalf of the President of the United States, the commendation was signed by Martin E. Dempsey, Brigadier General, U.S. Army, Commanding General.

express my gratitude and thanks to these people," Dorothy "Miss Dot" Clark said about the volunteers from the Naval Research Laboratory at Stennis Space Center who scrubbed, painted and did some construction at her Easterbrook St., Bay St. Louis home on Saturday.

Margaret Hadden brought the Christmas in April concept to Hancock County in 1996. Through the program, groups of volunteers get together to repair and rehabilitate the homes of low-income elderly and disabled three homes. That first year, volunteers helped to renovate three homes. Since then, the project has grown a little more every year.

This year, 12 teams from different organizations such as the U.S. Navy, Hancock Medical Center, Walmart, Diamondhead, Stennis Rotary Club, St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church, GE and the Methodist Church renovated 12 different homes in Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

"They (the volunteers) are so nice, and I just want everybody in Bay St. Louis to know how sweet they are and how great they are," Clark said. "I'm just grateful."

Loan -- Waveland

obligate the city to borrow any money.

The city advertised late last year its intentions to borrow up to $3.5 million in a TIF loan, but found that the Development Bank offered a better interest rate and more favorable payback options. Included in the $5.3 million will be bank and other fees and a year's worth of debt service payments, which must be held in reserve.

The money will be used as a match for state and federal grant dollars which will help fund some $15 to $17 million in infrastructure and capital improvement projects throughout the city. The money is not earmarked to fund the proposed marina project.

Grant funds requiring the city to match anywhere from 20 percent to 50 percent of the cost of projects are available now, said Mayor Tommy Longo.

When and if this opportunity will come along again no one can say, Longo said. He urged the city to take advantage of the opportunity to gain millions of dollars' worth of improvements for a fraction of the project costs. "Efforts to gain access to some of these grant dollars are years in the making," he said Thursday.

All four aldermen said they thought the proposed improvements to drainage, extensive sewer and water main reconstruction, added lighting, road improvements and more were viable and needed projects. The debate came over whether the city could afford the debt service payments.

While repayment of the TIF loan was limited to funds gained from tax revenues from the Walmart, the Development Bank loan could be repaid with any available revenue coming into the city, including ad valorem tax, sales tax, utility fund or general fund dollars, said Lucien Bourgeois of the Development Bank. Based on the earlier estimate of $3.5 million, repayment would cost the city about $300,000 in debt service each year.

Auditor Steve Dockens told alderman that based on the city's current budget it could mean a millage hike of up to four mills, or a raise in utility rates, or a combination of both to meet the debt service payment. He said that projected revenues would cover about half of the debt service.

Longo does not agree with Dockens, he said, that there are many factors influencing the city's repayment ability, including sales tax revenue from the new Walmart and saying that will be realized in treatment costs at Southern Regional when sewer infrastructure is tightened up to eliminate infiltration from groundwater. Longo also said that building is brisk in the city, with three new shopping centers, two new bank branches, a Sonic and other projects that cannot yet be announced. This will all add revenue in the city, he said, and you have to look at the long haul. Payback can be stretched over a longer period for utility projects lowering monthly payments, he said. Money will also be freed up from other bonds that will be paid and grants will free up dollars earmarked for capital improvement projects, he said.

"The easy way is to raise taxes and only a last-case scenario," said Longo. "And I believe all the board members agree with me on this."

Alderman Keith Mitchell said that although he is all for the projects, he is against raising taxes to handle costs.

He suggests doing the projects in phases that would allow the city to accrue debt in smaller increments. City engineer Bruce Newton said that if an entity does not take advantage of grant dollars when they are available, it tends to lose its place in the funding cue, which could jeopardize other funding.

Alderman Brian Schmitt said that he feels the potential good to the city far outweighs the bad, that the projects are needed and if not done now could have to be done in the future at a much higher cost to the city. All options are being looked at, he said, including the possibility of doing the projects in phases.

All board members were in attendance.

Hancock JROTC Cadets are assisted by Hancock Medical Center Dietician Dawn Vosbein (standing in center - back) with their service learning project on teenage obesity.

Hancock JROTC Service Learning Project

The Hancock High School JROTC Cadets are involved in a year-long service learning project to investigate teenage obesity. Throughout the year, Hancock Medical Center Dietician Dawn Vosbein has helped the students learn about three essential elements effecting teenage obesity - personal hygiene, physical training and nutrition. JROTC

Bravo Company is leading the cadets as they learn about this information and share it with other classes at Hancock High. The culmination of the project will take place on May 8 when the JROTC cadets participate in the Hancock Medical Center Health Fair to provide pamphlets and information to the public about teenage obesity.

North Bay art work put on display at local Wendy's

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Mrs. Pitalo's, Mrs. Lape's, and Mrs. Richardson's classes had a gallery opening night at Wendy's on Drinkwater and Hwy. 90.

The classes prepare artwork and display it at Wendy's. North Bay has partnered with Wendy's for several years.

Scott Nicely, Wendy's manager, has provided a place for the student's artwork, as well as treats for the students.

"We all appreciate the partnership as we strive to bridge our schools to the community," according to a press release issued Friday by the school. "It is a great opportunity to see what is going on in our schools. The artwork displayed at Wendy's connects are to a content area so students can learn a topic more deeply."

If you'd like to know more about the arts in our school district, contact Stacey Ferguson at 467-4757. We always need more partnerships like this in our area.

Your plants wanted on 'Da Beach'

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Plants wanted! The South Beach Garden Hui is in need of donations to continue to further beautify the South Beach public garden area. Plants, volunteers and monetary donations are a necessity to the life of this beautification project. The entire project is facilitated by volunteers and headed by the South Beach Garden Hui Master, Alan Jensen.

The project began with a general clean-up three years ago. The South Beach

Garden Hui has grown to include a mural and a small garden that gathered plenty of butterflies last summer for all to enjoy. The mural and plants were all courtesy of local artists and community nature lovers.

The South Beach Garden Hui now has plenty of fertilized green space just waiting for a little color. Your donations of sun and wind hearty plants and flowers are vital to the continued commitment of this wonderful community project. For additional information or to volunteer your time, please contact Colleen Read at da Beach House at 228-467-9477.

2003 Annual Drinking Water Quality Report Klin Water & Fire Protection District PWWS#: 0230050 April 2004

We're pleased to present to you this year's Annual Quality Water Report. This report is designed to inform you about the quality water and services we deliver to you every day. Our constant goal is to provide you with a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. We want you to understand the efforts we make to continually improve the water treatment process and protect our water resources. We are committed to ensuring the quality of your water. Our water source is from three wells drawing from the Graham Ferry Formation Aquifer.

The source water assessment has been completed for our public water system to determine the overall susceptibility of its drinking water supply to identified potential sources of contamination. The general susceptibility rankings assigned to each well of this system are provided immediately below. A report containing detailed information on how the susceptibility determinations were made has been furnished to our public water system and is available for viewing upon request.

Klin Water - Well #1	230050-01	moderate susceptibility to contamination
Well #2	230050-02	moderate susceptibility to contamination
Well #3	230050-03	ranking not available at this time

If you have any questions about this report or concerning your water utility, please contact Pat Curet at 228-255-2595. We want our valued customers to be informed about their water utility. If you want to learn more, please attend any of our regularly scheduled meetings. They are held on the second Wednesday of each month at 7:00 PM at the Fire Station.

The Klin Water & Fire Protection District routinely monitors for constituents in your drinking water according to Federal and State laws. This table shows the results of our monitoring for the period of January 1st to December 31st, 2003. In cases where monitoring wasn't required in 2003, the table reflects the most recent results. As water travels over the land or underground, it can pick up substances or contaminants such as microbes, inorganic and organic chemicals, and radioactive substances. All drinking water, including bottled drinking water, may be reasonably expected to contain at least small amounts of some constituents. It's important to remember that the presence of these constituents does not necessarily pose a health risk.

In this table you will find many terms and abbreviations you might not be familiar with. To help you better understand these terms we've provided the following definitions:

Action Level - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Treatment Technique (TT) - A treatment technique is a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) - The "Maximum Allowed" (MCL) is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG) - The "Goal" (MCLG) is the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

TEST RESULTS
Contaminant	Violation Y/N	Date Collected	Level Detected	Range of Detects or # of Samples Exceeding MCL/ACL	Unit Measurement	MCLG	MCL	Likely Source of Contamination
Radioactive Contaminants
4. Beta/photons emitters	N	2001*	1.4	No Range	PCU	0	50	Decay of natural and man-made deposits
Inorganic Contaminants
10. Barium	N	2003	.017	.007 - .017	Ppm	2	2	Discharge of drilling wastes; discharge from metal refineries; erosion of natural deposits
14. Copper	N	2000*	.378	0	ppm	1.3	AL=1.3	Corrosion of household plumbing systems; erosion of natural deposits; leaching from wood preservatives
17. Lead	N	2000*	4	0	ppb	0	AL=15	Corrosion of household plumbing systems; erosion of natural deposits

* Most recent sample. No sample required for 2003.

As you can see by the table, our system had no violations. We're proud that your drinking water meets or exceeds all Federal and State requirements. We have learned through our monitoring and testing that some constituents have been detected however the EPA has determined that your water is SAFE at these levels.

All sources of drinking water are subject to potential contamination by substances that are naturally occurring or man made. These substances can be microbes, inorganic or organic chemicals and radioactive substances. All drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline 1-800-426-4791.

The Klin Water & Fire Protection District works around the clock to provide top quality water to every tap. We ask that all our customers help us protect our water sources, which are the heart of our community, our way of life and our children's future.

Leaders of the Pack

The scouts of Pack 381 held their second annual Raingutter Regatta at the Troop 381/Pack 381 campout in early April. The overall winners were: Pack Champion-Luke Rosetti, 1st runner up-Cody Counselman; 2nd runner up-Bailey Luttrell; 3rd runner up-Aric Carter. Fifty scouts and their family members camped at Camp Tik that weekend and enjoyed canoeing, hiking and the campfire activities. Pack 381 and Troop 381 are sponsored by Our Lady of the Gulf parish in Bay St. Louis.

Kiln plans celebration for 52nd annual National Day of Prayer

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Local organizers are inviting county residents to unite on May 6 on the front porch at Kiln Library for the National Day of Prayer Rally. The one-hour event will begin at noon with special music by local artists at the Hwy. 43 Library. For those who may have time limitations, box lunches will be available.

"I can't imagine a time when we have been in greater need to publicly demonstrate our desire to pray," said Mike Wells, Chairman of the Kiln National Day of Prayer Event. "With our Nation at war wrestling enemies both abroad and at home, the attack upon our homes and families, and the approaching national election, there is a sense of desperation and uncertainty. In the midst of these tumultuous events, it is important that we stand together on the common ground of faith, asking God for His providence and blessings."

"Though we are just a small community, our prayers matter to God" Said Wells. "The problems we are experiencing here in Hancock County are a reflection of what is happening in cities and towns from coast to coast. If we will simply put aside our denominational and cultural differences and come together to pray, I fully believe a dramatic change is in store for our community and this nation."

The National Day of Prayer tradition dates back to 1775 and became a yearly event when President Harry S. Truman signed a joint resolution by Congress declaring celebration. President Ronald Reagan amended the Truman resolution by designating the first Thursday in May as the annual National Day of Prayer.

St. Rose plans 5K Walk-Run

St. Rose will hold its second annual 5K WALK/RUN on Saturday, May 1.

This will be a community event sponsored by Casino Magic, Capital Campaign, Viguerie Investments-LLC, Kentwood Water, Coast Coke and Sav-a-Center.

Children/Strollers entrants begin at 7:30 am and the 5K Walk/Run begins at 8:00 am.

The course winds its way through the oak shaded streets, through neighborhoods of charming cottages, along the beach, through Old Town Bay St. Louis, starting and ending at St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church.

All entrants will receive a T-Shirt. 1st and 2nd place winners will receive medals. Overall man/woman and master man/woman finishers will receive dinner for 2 at local restaurants.

Refreshments include

bananas, oranges, food and drinks.

Pre registration $10, Children Pre-Registration $8.00, Race Day $12.00. Registration forms are available at the St. Rose Church Office, 301 S. Ncaise Avenue, Bay St. Louis. - 467-7347 or at the Bay St. Louis and Waveland Libraries.

For more information contact Doug St. Amant, Race Director at 466-4467.

A Prayer to the Holy Spirit.
Holy Spirit, you who made me see everything and showed me the way to reach my ideal. You who gave me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me. And you who are in instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desire may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones is your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. Persons must pray the prayer three consecutive days without asking your wish. After third day wish will be granted no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this dialogue as soon as favor is granted. C.H.S.

Great Books discusses Simmel

Individual Freedom by Georg Simmel is the topic of discussion at the Great Books Discussion Group meeting on Wednesday, April 28, at 7 p.m. in the Seal Room of the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library.

The selection is from An Introduction to Great Books, First Series. Several copies are available for checkout at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library.

The Great Books discussion group, sponsored by the Hancock County Library System, has been meeting and discussing books since March, 1990. During that time, they have read more than 345 titles from great books (Plato, Hobbes, Locke, deTocqueville), Mississippi fiction, play readings and 20 philosophical questions. The group meets every other Wednesday at 7 p.m.

The Great Books Foundation was established in 1947 by University of Chicago Chancellor Robert Manyard Hutchins. Its mission is to provide people of all ages, backgrounds and walks of life with the opportunity to read, discuss and learn from outstanding works of literature. Today, more than 20,000 adults are members of Great Books discussion groups, and nearly one million students participate in Junior Great Books groups for grades kindergarten through 12.

Anyone is welcome to attend the meetings. The only requirement is that you read the selection before the meeting. For information, call Jamie Elston at 467-5282.

Foundation helps Hope Haven

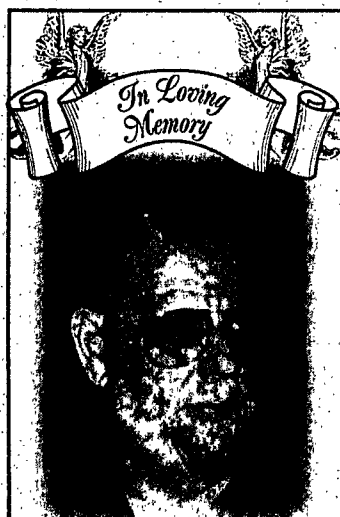

The Gulf Coast Community Foundation has approved a $500 grant to Hope Haven. The money, provided by the Roy Anderson Company, will be used to purchase new commercial grade swings for the play area and a special swing for physically handicapped children.

"We really appreciate the support of these two organizations," commented Margie Toups, Hope Haven board president. "Hundreds of children will use this equipment in the coming years."

The Gulf Coast Community Foundation provides a variety of grants to non profits and schools on an annual basis.

Also, the amount raised from a recent charity baseball game is $4,360.

Pop,
I asked God why you had to die. He said, "So I can know why you loved him so." "We need him here!" I cried and God replied, "You have him still; you always will."
You're in our hearts,
You're in our thoughts,
In every place we go,
In everything we do,
You are now and always will be... We love you Pop.

East Hancock educators win Leo W. Seal Teacher Awards

Next Tuesday, April 27, 2004, at Hancock Bank's annual Leo W. Seal Teacher Recognition Awards ceremony, five South Mississippi teachers will receive hand-crafted pewter apples and $1,000 project grants - figurative gold stars for their exceptional commitment to delivering creative, value-added educational opportunities to area schoolchildren.

Selected based on past and proposed curriculum-enhancing classroom teaching applications, 2004 recipients of the Leo W. Seal Teacher Recognition Awards are Nancy L. Hunter of Biloxi's Gorenflo Elementary School; Susan B. Spiers of South Side Lower Elementary School in Picayune; and Joan J. Breazeale, Ann Randle, and Nancy N. Ratcliff, all of East Hancock Elementary School in Kiln.

During the awards luncheon featuring keynote speaker Dr. William H. Lee, Jr., retired superintendent of the Jackson County School District, each teacher will receive a pewter apple designed exclusively for Hancock Bank by John Cannon of Ballard Pewter, Ltd., in Ocean Springs as a tangible reminder of superior educational commitment. Additionally, cash grants will fund projects supporting state education requirements and strengthening classroom teaching.

Targeting development of cognitive reading, listening, literary discussion, and writing skills, respect for elderly citizens as invaluable resources, and cultural tolerance, Hunter's "Connections" will partner Gorenflo Elementary students with senior-citizen relatives, close friends, and diverse community members for interview based, illustrated biographies and comparisons of school, family life, and growing up in today's world, during earlier generations, and among diverse ethnic traditions.

To inspire creativity, teach art concepts, elements and techniques, and complement core curriculum, Spiers' "Art Cart" will provide South Side Elementary teachers with resources for art inspired intuition, reasoning, imagination, and dexterity components in traditional math, history, English, science, geography, languages, and civics instruction to enhance kindergarten, first- and second-grade, and special education students' self-confidence, leadership skills, and overall performance.

Implementing Breazeale's "Amusement Park Physics" will help East Hancock Elementary students observe, examine, analyze, apply, and demonstrate principles of force, mass, velocity, gravity, and acceleration using familiar toys like Hot Wheels cars and tracks and will advance students' understanding of physics through hands-on application of experiment results to redesign and build functioning scale amusement park rides from specialized building blocks.

Developed by Randle to supplement art education in the school, "Arty Facts" will help East Hancock educators complement state mandated curriculum by offering students a virtual palette of cultural literacy as students consider famous artists and artworks to analyze, evaluate, and incorporate the use of visual images in communicating ideas and as students create original art for on-site display with works by noted masters and regional artists.

Ratcliff's "Gator Publishing Company" will afford East Hancock Elementary a fully furnished classroom writing and publishing center dedicated to helping students meet Mississippi language arts benchmarks and to teaching and assessing first- and second-grade students' interactive writing - a collaborative reading instruction process in which students write, edit, and publish together by considering all facets of language, grammar, context, and layout.

Established in 1994 and funded by Hancock Bank, the Leo W. Seal awards laud teaching excellence and individual contributions to South Mississippi education and support teachers by funding innovative classroom projects to enhance the value of students' educational experience. The awards commemorate the leadership and achievements of the late Leo W. Seal, Sr., Hancock Bank president from 1932 until his death in 1963, and his son, current Hancock Holding Company chairman Leo W. Seal, Jr., in facilitating economic growth and educational opportunities across the region. The Gulf Coast Community Foundation (GCCF) manages the endowment as a permanent fund of the GCCF's Pat Santucci Friends of Public Education program.

In fall 2004, teachers, parents, and students nominated kindergarten through twelfth-grade teachers from school districts in Forrest, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Lamar, Pearl River, and Jefferson Davis counties. Teachers receiving invitations to submit full project proposals presented their ideas to an independent selection committee comprising representatives from the seven counties and not affiliated with Hancock Bank. Applications for 2005 nominations will be available by October 2004 at all public school offices and Hancock Bank locations in Pearl River, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Forrest, Lamar, and Jefferson Davis counties or from GCCF (phone: 228-436-4441).

GCCF is a public charity dedicated to the progressive development of the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The foundation's primary mission is to increase philanthropic support of worthy causes by providing donor services, grants, and problem-solving leadership. The foundation achieves that mission by developing and managing a comprehensive base of endowment funds - an expanding pool of charitable dollars - permanently committed to meeting the needs of the people of South Mississippi.

Nissan's Mississippi plant completes hiring process

BY LYNDIA EDWARDS
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

CANTON, Miss. (AP) - Nissan's $1.4 billion Canton plant is now fully staffed with 5,300 workers, just in time to meet an unexpected surge in demand for fully loaded minivans.

Nissan opened the plant last year, lured by the $295 million incentive package that Mississippi offered the automaker. The plant has the capacity to manufacture 400,000 vehicles annually.

Workers there will manufacture and assemble five different vehicles: the Quest, Armada, Altima, Titan and Infiniti QX56. The Mississippi Development Authority estimates that 30,000 indirect jobs were generated by Nissan in the past two years.

The plant's human resources director, Galen Medlin, said that plant conveyor belts and robotic systems move vehicles down the assembly line at timed intervals. Human workers need to keep pace to roll 60 vehicles off the line every hour. It's the high-tech automotive version of Lucy Ricardo in the chocolate factory.

Medlin weeded through over 100,000 applicants for Nissan jobs.

Whenever Medlin learns that a Mississippi manufacturing plant is closing, he dispatches Nissan recruiters to the site to ask laid-off workers if they want to interview at Nissan. He said that Nissan's attrition rate hovers at 3 percent with the loss mostly on the night shift. But the night shift will remain critical to fill shifting demands.

The plant's vice president for manufacturing, David Boyer, was startled by demand for the option-loaded Quest minivan with a manufacturer's suggested price of $32,900. The basic model is $24,900.

Auto industry researchers concluded that Quest minivan buyers are members of a demographic so affluent they don't check price tags. And whatever the shifts in consumer taste bring, most automotive analysts predict that it will be a couple of years before Nissan's Canton plant is forced to produce at full capacity.

CNW Marketing, which regularly surveys car and truck buyers, found that GM, Ford and Chrysler provide tough competition for Nissan's Titan truck and Armada SUVs.

MGM reports record results

LAS VEGAS (AP) - Gambling giant MGM Mirage recorded its most profitable financial quarter ever, thanks to surging visitor levels and strong customer spending, the company reported Wednesday.

Net income more than doubled to $105.8 million, or 72 cents per share, in the first three months of 2004, compared with $51 million, or 33 cents per share, a year ago.

Excluding one-time items, MGM Mirage reported a profit of 70 cents per share, surpassing Wall Street analyst expectations of 46 cents.

Casino revenue increased by 13 percent in the 2004 quarter.

The ARTS has big plans this week

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Arts, Hancock County, Mississippi is planning very special events for the last few days of April and the beginning of May. On Wednesday, March 28 at 6 pm, the organization will be hosting a reception at the Depot in Bay St. Louis. Members of the honorary board will be introduced to the public, and there will be opportunities for prospective members to sign up.

The meeting will also provide an opportunity for the public to meet artists involved in The Arts, and to enjoy live music which will be provided by members of the Gulf Coast Chorale.

A "Tour de Arts" is scheduled for Thursday, April 29. Artist studios in Bay St. Louis and Waveland will be open to the public, and visitors will have an opportunity to talk with the artists about their work.

Included on the tour are the studios of Robin Cole and Anthony Henderson at the Lumberyard Art Center; the studio of painter Lee Robertson at The Key of Sea, 300 Third Street in Bay St. Louis; the Turquoise Turtle Printmaking Studio; Bay Clay Studio; the Bay Arts Co-op; the new Poetry Center at 116 Sycamore Street and the Painted Palm Studio. Interested individuals may obtain a map with the studio locations at the reception on Wednesday evening. Maps will also be available at the Welcome Center and at galleries in Old Town Bay St. Louis.

On Thursday evening, from 4-6pm, and again on Friday morning from 8-12am, the depot will be open to receive art from members for an exhibit.

There is no cost to the artists for exhibiting their work, and any medium is acceptable. Each artist may hang one large piece (no larger than 3'x 3') or two smaller pieces. Any artist displaying a sculpture must provide their own base for the piece.

On Saturday evening from 7-9pm, The Arts will open the exhibit at the Depot to the public. Wine and cheese will be served, and the exhibiting artists will be on hand to discuss their work. Live music is also being scheduled for this event, and anyone interested in the arts is welcome to attend. The exhibit will continue to be open to the public on Sunday, with a brunch being planned. For more information on The Arts spring meeting, reception and other events, please visit The Arts website at www.hancock-art.com, or call Susan Crane at 301-922-5136.

AARP counsels record numbers in tax assistance

THE SEA COAST ECHO

More than 900 people were counseled by the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) Tax Assistance Program this year, according to Van Carpenter, AARP Tax Assistance Coordinator. The program is cosponsored by the Hancock County Library System and AARP. Tax counselors worked at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library and the Kiln Public Library from February through April 15.

"Based on the comments received, we made quite a few people happy and saved them quite a few dollars," said Carpenter. "Looking at the statistics, there was definitely an increase in the number of people served."

During the 2003 tax year, a total of 913 people were helped with their income tax returns, as compared to 587 in 2002. Of that number, 550 were Federal returns and 390 were state returns. Electronic filing was very popular, with 278 returns completed, as compared to 173 last year.

"The program is definitely growing," he said, "and this year was definitely a successful one."

The program was manned by 17 workers, who worked a total of 1,520 volunteer hours.

Pat and Harry Wilson's son, Michael's second grade class at the old Logtown School, where he started and attended school until the arrival of Stennis Space Center closed down the school in the early 1960's. Michael in the front row in the middle. Recognize any other faces-let us know.

Lost Communities OF HANCOCK COUNTY

Pat and Harry E. Wilson's family doesn't go back for generations in western Hancock County, like many of the families living along the Pearl River; they have only lived in Pearlington since 1956, but the family has adopted the area as their home.

Pat's mother, Genevieve O'Connor Cole, and her granddaughter, Jennifer Lynn, are buried at the Pearlington cemetery. That spurred the Wilsons to become involved in the cleanup of the old cemetery.

Originally from the Vicksburg area, the couple migrated from New Orleans to look after Pat's father when he was sent to the Veteran's Hospital in Biloxi. They needed a place where Harry could commute to his job as a civil engineer and where Pat could drive to Biloxi. Pearlington was the ideal spot and the couple bought several acres.

"We thought we had found paradise," said Pat. "Which is what it really was."

The area was a paradise for Pat, who loved photography and drawing and had trained as a professional retoucher and hand colorer of black and white photographs. She also loved the rich history of the area.

The Wilsons settled in and began to make a place for themselves in the community. Their son, Michael, began school in Logtown. At the time there was no school in Pearlington. For a while Pat would drive him to school each day.

"After a while when he got used to it and took the bus, and the bus would drop him off at the gate, and our Collie would be waiting for him there each day at 2:45 just like he knew the time," said Pat.

Pat made friends and particularly remembers her friendship with the Charles B. Murphys in Napoleon. They had a lovely home and were wonderful people, she said, like most of the people in the area. She made the trip to Napoleon with her friend Margaret Murphy Ladner and each time was a treat. The family cemetery was near the house and looked more like a park, Pat said.

"Mrs. Murphy welcomed me like I was her own and was the sweetest, kindest person you'd ever meet," she said. "She loved her home where her children grew up and was reluctant to leave (when Stennis Space Center moved in) but she took the loss, and the move, with the gentle acceptance that colored everything in her life."

It was like one big family, Pat said, and at PTA meetings at the school it was more like a family gathering with everyone bringing cakes and cookies for a feast. Nancy Russ, wife of Supervisor C. A. Russ, was famous for her pecan cake and fresh-ground coffee. The cooks at the school were super too, she said, and Michael always raved about the food there. Michael also remembers the icy cold artesian water fountain at the school.

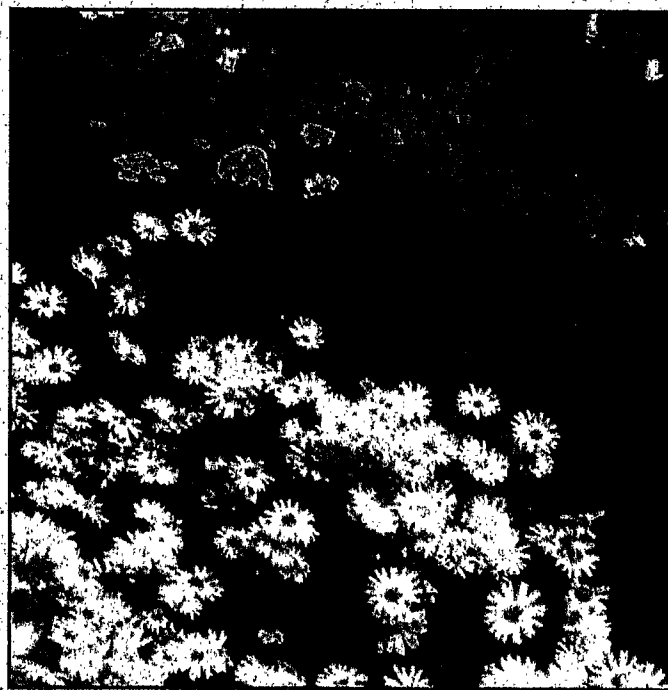

Eunice Casanova was a favorite teacher and put on an American history pageant which included every child at the school. She always had plans for a contest or a program of some kind. At a rhythm band contest put on by teacher Marietta Carter, Michael played an original piano composition called "Space Mates" and ironically went on to be a missile technician for the Air Force.

Principal Oscar Breland was the last of the old time principals, said Pat, doing everything that needed to be done at the school, from repairs to filling in for a teacher who was ill.

"It was a very old world type of community with people who had old world manners, and after coming from New Orleans it was like coming to paradise," she said. "I

Neglect and enjoy Ox Eye daisies

Ox Eye daisies add just the right touch to this bed of Gold Yarrow and verbenas.

Sometimes when a plant gets labeled a noxious weed my first thought is that the most negligent gardeners, even someone like me, can grow it.

Since I am on the road constantly, I need tough plants and one of the hardiest varieties that I adore is the Ox Eye daisy.

The Ox Eye is known botanically as Leucanthemum vulgare and is related to the highly esteemed Shasta daisy with the botanical name Leucanthemum x superbum. Some communities plant Ox Eye daisies for color in high-traffic areas. When you see a plant growing and blooming beautifully in the highway medians, you can be sure it's tough. The Ox Eye seems to be blooming everywhere now mostly in older gardens as sort of a precursor to the Shasta daisies like last year's perennial plant of the year, Becky.

The best of all worlds would be to have the Ox Eye daisy blooming now and give way to weeks of Shasta blooms. Your neighbors would surely get testy as they figured you had more than your share of daisies blooming. After all, daisies are among the most treasured perennial in the landscape.

The lowly Ox Eye originates in Eurasia and is a reliable perennial from zones 3 to 9. It does have a slight wildflower look to it and indeed it can spread aggressively.

Action). Now I have the fund which the soldiers said was precisely 30 million United States dollars, but it lies in a security vault in a security company in Madrid, Spain, and I was contacted in a letter dated Dec. 12 last year by the security company asking me to indicate if I was in receipt of the letter as a sign that I am living and still subscribed for their service.

I am interested in using a small fraction of this money, much less than one percent for a reorganization of the work I am chosen to do, but I do not need the rest and do not want to have any direct dealing with it, but I need someone who will be able to use the fund better — maybe for charity or something universally profitable (like building of orphanage homes, churches and setting up a global foundation to cater for the world impoverished children). I have thought of doing it myself, but my ministry is the apocalypse, and I believe and preach the soon coming of the Lord which make me not indulgent in reliance on money or wealth in any form.

I also do not have the money that as accrued on the service and safe deposit of the company that holds the fund. I will be glad if you have any interest in the direction of maybe managing or transmitting the fund as you prefer in your capacity and understanding.

Will be glad to get a response from you ASAP via my email address. Treat As Very Urgent.

Regards

Rev. Narcisse Wolo

Well, I could hardly resist such a request from someone who was an obviously sincere servant of the Lord and I was about to reply to Reverend Wolo when I got another e-mail letter. This one was also from Nigeria.

Hello,

I need your help. I am the wife of Vlakko Stojilovic, one of the people indicted at the Hague War Crimes Tribunal in Hague. The indictment is politically motivated ... my husband had kept some funds, in cash to enable them take care of rebel problems. However, now the country they protected has turned against them. We need to transfer the money out to safety. The funds are in excess of 200 million US. They can be shipped under diplomatic immunity. They will then have to be paid into offshore accounts. They are not in Yugoslav. Can you help? Are you capable of handling funds? Are you trustworthy?

I have been asked to offer you 15 percent. Will that be OK? Please reply to me. I am grateful. Glorja.

Well, this was getting interesting. I realized that, unbelievably as it may sound, I had within my grasp two sources of immense funds. I was about to answer Glorja, when I got another e-mail. Amazing as it may sound, it was also from Nigeria.

Sir, I am Hajia Maryam Abacha, widow of the Late Gen. Sani Abacha former Nigerian Military Head of State who died as a result of cardiac arrest. The name of your company appeared in one of our directories as one of the companies my late husband wanted to do business with before he died. I therefore decided to contact you in confidence so that I can be able to move out the sum of US $35,760,000 which was secretly defaced and sealed in big metal-box with a security company in Europe ...

When I received this latest I felt faint with joy. It seemed incredible that the general had me personally in his files and that his widow would come across that particular file. What a strange and wonderful stroke of luck! I began to look more closely at some of the marvelous glossy catalogues that for years have been coming to us in the mail. To think that before this I had been throwing them away.

But in the middle of all this, I began to fret. How in the world would I be able to manage all those funds? I found myself worrying, unable to sleep at night. However, I managed to keep it all a secret, saying nothing to Stella and making clandestine trips to Pascagoula to look at large pieces of property when she was at work.

Then I got another e-mail: Dear sir I request permission to remit $30 million US into your company or private account. It is my pleasure to write and inform you of a transaction involving the transfer of $30 million into your account for safekeeping pending my arrival with my colleagues for the sharing with you as the account owner into which the money is remitted. I am an accountant with the National Petroleum Corporation, Lagos, and this money originated from over-invoiced contract executed for the corporation some years back. ...

This was too much. Without waiting another minute, I e-mailed the following to this wonderfully generous person:

Sir, I will be glad to assist you in your endeavor. I wish to assure you I am perfectly honest and a respectable person. However, as a mere formality to show your sincerity, please be so kind as to send $250,000 US in small denomination, unmarked bills to the Post Office address I have given below. I assure you that this is only a formality and will but make a strong bond in what I hope will be a mutually happy relationship.

So there it all is. I am not greedy and have chosen the last of my e-mail letters to reply to. The others are still unanswered and you are welcome to answer them if you wish to get your share of the millions on millions of dollars involved. However, as for myself, as soon as I receive the money, I will leave for Pascagoula.

Please do not tell anyone where I have gone.

loved New Orleans for its cultural interests, but for Michael it was a totally different place out here, a real boy's place, no doubt about it. We received a gracious and friendly welcome from the ladies of the towns along the river who made us feel like old friends."

The whole area was beautiful, said Pat. The road to the river at Logtown was lined with Oak trees, azaleas and beautiful homes. Large groves of Tung trees stood all the way to Picayune and were absolutely beautiful in the spring with large white flowers, she said. And the woods were filled with wild azaleas, laurel and other wild flowers and vines.

Logging operations at the Pearl River at Logtown.

the river to find a new home, Pat and Geraldine Remel, whose husband, Julius, was in charge of the International Paper Co., combed the woods in search of old cemeteries. The two made a record of all the graves they found, including those at Gainesville and sent them to the historical record in Jackson, Pat said. Especially lovely was the Koch family cemetery, she said.

People were not very happy about having to move, some after generations. The first inkling we had was when a man in a business suit knocked on the door inquiring about farming in the area. We didn't understand, but he said a government installation would be coming.

"Perhaps it is the paradise lost," Pat said. "But not if you remember it in your heart."

sun. They do best in fertile, well-drained soil, though I'll be the first to admit I have seen some blooming up a storm in soil better suited for dynamite.

Do yourself a favor and incorporate three to four inches of organic matter and work it in 6 to 8 inches. While tilling, add 2 pounds of a slow-release fertilizer per 100 square feet of planting area. A blend like 12-6-6 or balanced 8-8-8 with minor nutrients would be super.

Space plants 12 to 15 inches apart, planting at the same depth they are growing in the container. Keep the flowers deadheaded for a tidy look and make thinning or managing the spread part of your regular routine. After they have finished blooming, cut them back by half.

Division for both the Ox

Eye and the Shasta daisies is best done in the fall and will improve your blooming and vigor substantially.

The Ox Eye makes a nice companion with old-fashioned larkspurs, verbenas, coreopsis, yarrow and Victoria Blue salvia, a Mississippi Medallion winner from a few years ago. They can combine to make a nice, modern cottage-style look.

They will probably be harder to find than a four-leaf clover and that may prompt you to get starter plants from a neighbor down the street.

The variety May Queen is the most recognized in the trade. But as you shop for them, pick up a flat of the Becky Shasta daisy and follow the same planting recommendations. Also pick up the companion plants mentioned above.

First Saturday set May 1

Street fair to hit the streets of Pass Christian monthly

SEA COAST ECHO
First Saturday will kick off in Pass Christian Saturday, May 1, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Sponsored by the Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce, First Saturday in the Pass is a street fair featuring arts, crafts, food and jewelry offered by many local vendors.

The vendor booths will be situated on Davis

Avenue in Pass Christian, beginning at Scenic Drive and running north across Second Street. Pass Christian merchants will participate as well with special events in their stores.

"First Saturday in the Pass is meant to be an old-fashioned, family-oriented street fair with something for everyone," said Ken Austin, Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce.

"We invite all Coast residents to come and enjoy the hospitality, the products offered by the vendors and merchants, and hope that all will come back on the first Saturday of every month."

First Saturday in the Pass will be held on the first Saturday of every month through November. Admission is free.

Booth spaces are still available. For more details, contact Scott Naugle at 228-863-5362 or Wilma Rizzardi at the Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce at 228-452-2252.

THE PLOTTING OF SANBALLAT!

SANBALLAT, THE HONORARY WAS A GOVERNOR IN SAMARIA WHEN NEBUCHADREZAR CAME TO JERUSALEM TO REBUILD THE CITY'S WALLS. HE KNEW THE JEWS WERE STRONG, WISE, AND SKILLFUL. HE IMMEDIATELY STARTED PLOTTING AGAINST NEBUCHADREZAR AND HIS PLANS. HE KNEW OF HIS MACHINATIONS AND SO HE BROUGHT OTHERS INTO HIS PLOT TO DESTROY IT. THE JEWS OF SAMARIA WERE WALLS OF TO ADVERSE NEBUCHADREZAR'S PLANS. UNFORTUNATELY, FOR SANBALLAT, EVERY NEW DEVICE INVENTED BY HIM AND HIS CO-CONSPIRATORS FAILED. THE TREASONING WORK PROCEEDED IN EVERY DIRECTION, CULMINATING IN THE COMPLETE DESTRUCTION OF THE CITY OF JERUSALEM AND THE REBUILDING OF THE TEMPLE. SANBALLAT, FOR ALL HIS DEVILISH SCHEMES, EXPERIENCED A DISASTROUS DEFEAT!

THE SCHADENFROH REVISITED

English does not render it in one word, but German packs it into the one term, schadenfroh. It simply means the perverse attitude of a person who takes large delight in the reverse, accidents and misfortunes of others.

Unfortunately, this is a topic which must be addressed every other year or so because there are so very many people afflicted with the ugly schadenfroh syndrome.

This ugly, destructive attitude is found in every walk of life. Hottest of all at the moment is the international scene where the jollies of the schadenfroh are intensified in direct proportion to the deaths, atrocities and injuries inflicted on soldiers, police or even civilians in Iraq. Bad news is good news for all whose face is set against American involvement there.

While it is conceivable and understandable that people of good will on both sides of the war controversy can be sincere and well-meaning, it is not acceptable that either side take comfort in bad news which aids their cause.

The chaos, maiming, suicide bombings and other killings rampant in some sections of Iraq are the flash points of billions, extremely acid feelings of resentment and even hatred between Democrat and Republican, liberal and conservative, independent and whatever mix of politics people embrace.

And, of course, the media use this deadly animosity to their advantage, not throwing water on partisan fires, naturally, but rather spiking their sales by fanning the flames of old and new hatreds, old and new bad news.

Yes, the schadenfroh syndrome is as characteristic of the media as it is of partisan politicians. The sadder, the more negative, the more disastrous the news, the more do the media salivate over the product they have to offer us.

Saddest of all, most of us make ourselves willing accomplices by staying glued to TV's and print's constant overdose of violence, sex, drugs and all the sensationalizing of the worst, the bloodiest, the deadliest and the saddest.

If we did not patronize them, none of the media would feed us bad news.

Bad news, bad luck, sickness, misfortune, disaster, crime, injury and death are all good news, good copy, more sales and money, spicy interest, great conversation pieces, and the very juices which make many high on life.

Even the very fact that many people feel the need for having a Columbine anniversary in Colorado commemorating the deadliest school incident ever in

Reflections
on Life
by Father James
Leban, SS

this country is proof positive of just how consumed we are by bad news.

How many times every day, do you jump into someone or receive a dreaded call from someone who lives and breathes for great moments of bad news, and who eagerly, immediately sallies forth into the joys of long, sad litany of bad news of every genre, place, circumstance and time?

How difficult is it for you to get off the phone with someone who is an unrelenting harpinger of bad news, salivating, destructive gossip, and an overall schadenfroh view of everyone and everything in life?

More than likely, you not only look for new and creative ways of getting doomsayers off the phone, but you rack your brain to figure out how to avoid encountering such people either in person or by phone.

Even where they begin a conversation on a lighter note, schadenfroh people cannot wait to maneuver all communication into the sad, smelly gutter of gossip, seamy characters and negative events of all sorts.

Some folks are disturbingly predictable in that you will hardly hear from them at all unless they have a sad tale to pass along. The very tone of their voice betrays how much a triumph it is for them to disseminate bad news.

And don't mention the opportunity to scoop everyone else! It is a special treat and delicacy to the gossip, the bad news-monger to be the very first to announce a morsel of bad news, particularly wifely accounts which prove to be of the cancer-ending, reputation-destroying variety.

It is here especially that we detect the addictive, neuritic shakes suffered by gossip until they can pass along all the details of their poisonous news. If people would throw such an intense degree of purpose into their personal lives and relationships, marriages, family ties and friendship would all prosper.

Are you like me? I am totally amazed that certain people who have said the most slanderous things imaginable behind my back are still brazen enough to laugh in my face and jest about the ups and downs of life.

If trusted friends had not told me about the indescribably bad news some people cannot wait to put out on me - and I'm sure you as well - I could not bring myself to believe that anyone could be that schadenfroh.

Unfortunately, this occurrence is far more frequent than one dares believe.

Worst of all, the most frequent venues of schadenfroh people are the family, the arena of friendship, and even the sacred precincts of God's house and church members. But remember, we are Easter people, eternal optimists.

Sinful Sins

by Ed Young

Living in continued sin is the most destructive way of life one can be in. It will not only effect the sinner, but it is passed down to the children. You know, "like father, like son."

Most people doing as they please have no idea, nor do they care about the consequence that follows. For example, the culture of the manner of lifestyle in Hollywood. Morals are not allowed through the studio gates. "Like father, like son." The same applies to "mommy dearest."

"The Lord is long-suffering, and of great mercy, forgiving iniquity and transgression and by no means clearing the guilty; visiting the iniquity of the father upon the children unto the third and fourth generation." (Numbers 14:18)

some families have sons and daughters always in trouble, check out the lifestyle of the parents. Lack of education, no training in religious teachings, and a spirit of rebellion usually exist.

However, there are parents who are very good and responsible people. Yet their children choose to go astray, which is so disappointing. Those young people who are enjoying sin will have a rude awakening. Sin lays at their doorstep every morning. Could that be the 'spirit of the third and fourth generation'?

Parents must know that when Christ is invited into the home and they (the parents) have surrendered their lives to Jesus; the curse is broken and Satan is ordered to take his hands off the third and fourth generation.

Thank God for Jesus!

The "Word" for the Week

Dead and buried in victory

by Ed Young

Many people loose children for whom they have been hoping and praying for years. There is a miscarriage and the child dies.

Most state laws say that if the baby weighs so many grams and if there is a detectable heartbeat, then a birth certificate and a death certificate must be prepared. But if the baby weighs less than the arbitrary cut off, there is no birth certificate.

For the purpose of state statistics, there is no birth. But this is no consolation to the family. They have lost a child. It is heartbreaking. But there is another question. What do you do with the body of a tiny premature infant? Many hospitals discard these little bodies like unwanted body parts. I had the privilege of doing the funeral for a large family who lost a little boy like this.

The hospital gave the tiny body to the parents because there were no rules covering the situation. A funeral director gave the parents a little casket and dug a small grave. I went to the house where the children and the parents had placed the tiny body in that casket and then the children carried the casket out to their van.

At the cemetery we read scripture and talked about what happened. Then the family put that little casket into the ground. The children took turns throwing dirt into the little grave. They also planted flowers on the grave that afternoon.

As the children cried, the adults wept with them. But it was a wonderful time. The family went through all of this because they are Christians.

Their hope is in the bodily resurrection. They placed this little boy in the grave with the hope when Christ comes again in glory, that little boy will be raised up and they will experience a glorious reunion.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR COASTAL WETLANDS PERMIT AND WATER QUALITY CERTIFICATION

The Jackson County Board of Supervisors has filed an application with the Department of Marine Resources requesting permission to conduct regulated activities under the provision of the Coastal Wetlands Protection Act, Title 48, Chapter 27, Mississippi Code of 1972, on Davis Bayou and Simmons Bayou, Ocean Springs, Hancock County, Mississippi.

The Jackson County Board of Supervisors is seeking authorization to dredge portions of Davis Bayou, Simmons Bayou, and their tributaries. The operation will dredge approximately 38,064 cubic yards of sandy silt material from 21,920 linear feet of channel. The purpose of the project is to improve public navigation on the channel.

In compliance with section 401 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1251, 1341), as amended by PL 95-217, the applicant will request certification from the Office of Pollution Control that the above mentioned activity will be in compliance with applicable provisions of Section 303 (33 U.S.C. 1311), Section 302 (33 U.S.C. 1312), Section 305 (U.S.C. 1315), Section 306 (U.S.C. 1316), and Section 307 (U.S.C. 1317) of the Act and appropriate requirements of the State Law.

Any person wishing to make comments or objections to the proposed regulated activity must submit those comments in writing to the Department of Marine Resources at 1411, Suite 101, Bayview Avenue, Biloxi, Mississippi 39530 and the Office of Pollution Control, Post Office Box 10385, Jackson, Mississippi 39205 before 1:00 p.m. on the day 14-2004.

Checking in with Emily Procter

By Jay Bobbin

She has proven she can play a good hand of cards, but Emily Procter also plays a forensics expert.

The appealingly quirky actress has heard much about her stint on the Bravo series "Celebrity Poker Showdown," but her main TV address remains "CSI: Miami," CBS' high-rated Monday-night show. Procter is wrapping up her second season as Calleigh Duquesne, the very procedural investigator whose expertise helps explain how baffling murders were committed.

"I'm very, very sleepy," the Southern-accented Procter admits of her long hours making the series. "But I feel like I'm finally settling in. I'm not going to lie: It took me a while to get used to playing a cop. I always want to try to play it with something unusual, some sort of spin ... but I think I finally realized that sometimes, you're just playing a cop." Procter appreciates the forensics consultants who are present on the "CSI: Miami" set. "I really don't think we'd be able to do the show without them," she maintains. "With almost every scene that involves science, I have to run over to one of them and ask a question. It's also been beneficial to know where they come from emotionally."

Formerly a weathercaster in her native North Carolina, Procter made her first big TV mark as presidential adviser Ainsley Hayes in "The West Wing." She's had to drop out of a second round of "Celebrity Poker Showdown" due to a busy schedule involving a May "CSI: Miami" episode that will launch the CBS fall spinoff series "CSI: New York." Procter deems "CSI" to be "a tremendous franchise, but my only worry now is what it might feel like to be the middle child."

Birthdate: Oct. 8, 1968.
Birthplace: Raleigh, N.C.
Marital status: Single.
Other TV work: "The West Wing"; "Submerged"; "The Dukes of Hazzard: Reunion!"; "Early Edition"; "Just Shoot Me"; "Friends"; "Lois & Clark: The New Adventures of Superman."
Movie work: "Jerry Maguire"; "Leaving Las Vegas"; "Guinevere"; "Body Shots"; "Kingdom Come"; "The Big Tease."

On her background in poker: "I have a large family, and when I was young, we'd all sit around and play cards. My dad would save pennies, nickels and dimes, then put them down on the kitchen table where we'd play poker. It was fun, but I think he did it to teach us about math and about the value of a dollar."

Featured Clint's child makes her own day

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

She's the daughter of an Oscar-winning screen icon, but Alison Eastwood is forging her own showbiz path.

Although Clint's daughter made her earliest acting appearances in several of his films (such as "Tightrope" and "Absolute Power"), she has been on her own since, largely in romantic-comedy staples of video stores and cable channels. She now gets top billing in "I'll Be Seeing You," the latest in Pax TV's series of Mary Higgins Clark mystery-novel adaptations.

Airing Saturday, May 1, the thriller casts Eastwood as a woman summoned to a murder scene ... where the victim is her spitting image. Her father's earlier disappearance and the related insurance concerns become factors in the ensuing investigation, as does a fertility clinic. Bo Svenson, of the original "Walking Tall," plays the missing man's business partner.

Eastwood admits she's "not really" a mystery fan by nature. "I had heard of Mary Higgins Clark, but I honestly hadn't read any of her books when I decided to do this movie. I play two characters, but one of them is very quickly dispatched. I probably spent more time lying on a morgue slab than I did in my speaking role."

Portraying a corpse isn't easy, Eastwood maintains: "You can't flinch at all or let your eyes flutter. You have to hold your breath and try to stay as still as possible. It was very difficult." So were conditions in Saskatchewan, Canada, where the movie was made. "It was some of the coldest weather all of us had ever been in," Eastwood says. "At one point, it was minus-53 degrees, and we had to move some scenes indoors. The cameras literally froze; I could hardly move my face sometimes."

Aries (March 21 - April 20)

With the moon in your fifth house, you'll be feeling frisky. Use that energy to work out some creative kinks in some projects you've started around the house.

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)

Home matters need your attention, so take time off of work if you need to. This issue won't get resolved unless you take it seriously.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)

Communication should be running smoothly, so talk your projects up to anyone who will listen. Expect to make some headway.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)

An object you've had your eye on for quite some time might be too good to resist. If it's on sale, make your move.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)

Emotions are running high - so be sure to watch your tongue. If you take a step back before you respond, you won't have to eat your words.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)

Emotionally, you'll want to keep to yourself, and who can blame you? After what you've been through lately, take some time off.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

Hit the town! All your friends will be out and about, and they'll be expecting you to join them. The party won't be the same without you.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)

Careerwise, you are at the top of your game - expect an offer of some sort to come your way. It's high time someone recognized your skills.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)

The urge to travel is strong, and if you can afford it, the stars recommend it. If not now, look into saving for a future trip.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)

You might be too emotionally invested in a financial affair or legal matter. Ask someone impartial to get involved.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)

Love is in the air, and cupid's arrow is aiming your way. If you're attached, let your partner know how grateful you are for their affections.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)

A health matter needs your attention, so schedule that doctor's appointment you have been putting off. It's time you took this one seriously.

'Trading Spaces' builds on a strong foundation

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

More than a few home remodelers have fallen prey to "While we're at it, why don't we...?" syndrome, in which a simple bathroom redo can mysteriously morph into a new addition and an in-ground swimming pool. So it should be no surprise that a show about revamping rooms would also believe that more and bigger is better.

An unqualified phenomenon, The Learning Channel's "Trading Spaces" - in which neighbors have two days, $1,000, a designer and a half-share in a carpenter to secretly redo rooms in each other's homes - has spawned several offspring.

There's TLC's Sunday-night "Trading Spaces: Family," in which parents and children work together; NBC's Saturday-morning "Trading Spaces: Boys vs. Girls," from Discovery Kids, in which parents are not allowed; and "Trading Spaces: $100,000," a highly rated, two-hour special last October that had budgets of $50,000 per room.

On Sunday, April 25, TLC airs the finale of the latest spinoff, "Trading Spaces: Home Free," in which eight sets of neighbors have competed for the chance to pay off one family's mortgage, with viewers choosing the rooms they like best.

As the competition progressed, designers threw challenges at the homeowners, who, unlike regular "Trading Spaces," were in charge of designs, budgets (which, in this show, spiraled as high as $20,000) and shopping. The finale recaps the competition and reveals the ultimate winners.

"I'm not a homeowner yet," carpenter Carter Oosterhouse says, "but I relate it back to my parents' house in Michigan. It's the house I grew up in, that they still live in, and if they had the option to just pay it off, it would be much better than having another house in Traverse City. It means more."

Of course, putting the homeowners in the driver's seat made for a different experience.

"People usually listen to what the designers say and the carpenters say," Oosterhouse says, "but now, they're so much more intense. They rise to the occasion."

As for what it means for him to work off the homeowners' plans, Oosterhouse laughs. "Well, come on now, you've seen the designers' plans. It's not a bad thing. It's just different, because now you're dealing with somebody who is not really sure how to put together a piece of furniture. They'll just bring pictures of what they like. I usually end up drawing it up."

"Some have had outlandish ideas, and I've said, 'That's not going to work with the budget we have and the time we have.' But I definitely want the homeowners to have their full input. It's their opportunity to shine."

On "Trading Spaces," designer Doug Wilson is known more for staying true to his design vision than taking a lot of homeowner input. But that doesn't mean he hasn't enjoyed the "Home Free" experience.

"When people do come to the table and bring a concept, well thought out and ready to execute, I think that's fantastic," he says. "I really welcome that. If I think they're doing something wrong and they need to rethink, I'll tell them. It's been a great experience to have people come to the table with something to lose or gain."

The ever-expanding universe of "Trading Spaces" doesn't stop with "Home Free." At a recent meeting with advertisers in New York, TLC unveiled a slate of prime-time specials, starting with a bloopers special, "Trading Spaces: Unglued," on June 12; then, on July 11, "Trading Spaces: Inside Out," which visits cast members' homes and reveals how an episode is made.

But there's more, starting in the fourth quarter of 2004, and Wilson plays a large part in the plans.

"I'm signed on to 'Trading Spaces' for three more years," he says. "I'm making TLC my home, so people know where to tune in and find me. So, I'll be hosting four, two-hour quarterly segments for TLC, called 'America's Ugliest Rooms' - big-budget, lots of fun."

Included are bathrooms, kitchens, bedrooms and living rooms. "They will start ugly and hopefully, by the time I'm done, they will end ugly..." Wilson dissolves in laughter at his perhaps-Freudian slip. "I mean, they will end pretty. They'll end pretty."

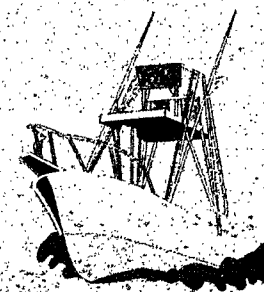

Wilson says there are plenty more specials under the "Trading Spaces" banner. The first takes advantage of the musical talents of Wilson, host Paige Davis and carpenter Ty Pennington (and some Broadway guest stars).

"We're doing 'Trading Spaces: The Musical,'" Wilson says. "We're going to be redoing two castles in Scotland in 'Trading Spaces Goes Medieval.' We're also going to let the viewers choose the next new designer that will be coming up, this fall, in 'Trading Spaces: Choose the Next Designer.' So the show's not getting stale at all."

One upcoming show resonates on a personal level with Wilson, whose urbane persona belies a rather rural upbringing.

"We're doing a show on my family farm in Illinois," he says. "It's been in the family for 125 years. It's going to be my brothers, who live three minutes apart. My four brothers will switch rooms. That'll be interesting, because people will be like, 'What?' Juxtaposed against my brothers, I don't know where I came from."

'Practice' actress was model for Lara Croft

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q What projects has Rhona Mitra of "The Practice" been in? And what is her heritage? She sounds British, but her name seems to contradict that. - Patrick Seddon, Oakland, Calif.

A Mitra, who co-stars with Goran Visnjic ("ER") in USA Network's recent "Spartacus" remake, is indeed a native of London, but her father's side of the family comes from India (her mother is Irish).

Now 27, Mitra was expelled from two boarding schools during a troubled adolescence that ended when she enrolled in drama school. Among her first big breaks was being chosen as the original live-action model for the Lara Croft character in the hugely successful Tomb Raider video games.

After landing a small role in the 1998 art house movie hit "Croupier," Mitra caught the attention of U.S. television audiences in 1999 when she joined the cast of Fox's "Party of Five" as Holly, followed by another series role as Dr. Alejandra "Ollie" Klein in the 2000-01 ABC medical drama "Gideon's Crossing." Mitra's film credits include the 1999 sci-fi film "Beowulf," plus "Hollow Man," "Get Carter," "Sweet Home Alabama," "The Life of David Gale," "Stuck on You" and "Highwaymen," which also starred Jim Caviezel ("The Passion of the Christ").

Q What can you tell me about David Boreanaz ("Angel") and his career? Didn't he make a movie? Is it on video? - Marilyn in Temperance, Mich.

A Boreanaz, 32, comes from a theater background and had only a couple of uncredited movie parts and a "Married... With Children" guest appearance on his resume when he made his electrifying 1997 series debut as Angel in "Buffy the Vampire Slayer." Since then, he has made two films, the 2001 horror flick "Valentine" and "I'm With Lucy," a 2002 romantic comedy, both on home video.

The actor, who is married to actress Jaime Bergman ("Son of the Beach"), also co-stars with Edward Furlong and Dennis Hopper in "The Crow: Wicked Prayer," an action thriller awaiting release, and has been announced to star in "Silent Hill," a 2005 horror film.

P.S.: For the many who have asked, it looks as if Boreanaz's former "Buffy" leading lady, Sarah Michelle Gellar, will not be making a guest appearance on "Angel" as the show winds down this, its last season. Joss Whedon, who created both series, says he didn't want a guest star stealing focus from the "Angel" core players in the series finale, and prior commitments would not allow Gellar to put in an appearance in the next-to-last episode as originally intended.

Why can't TV's best sitcom manage to get 'Arrested'?

By John Crook
© Zap2it

In a bold and unprecedented promotional move, Fox Broadcasting Company will give a shiny new Porsche to each young adult who watches the season finale of "Arrested Development" on Sunday, April 25.

No, wait. That's a lie. But would it make a difference?

Most of the nation's TV critics have spent the 2003-04 TV season - a grim one for TV comedy, on many levels - alternately beating the drum for "Arrested Development" and banging their heads against a wall as they stare in dismay at the flat-lining Nielsen ratings for this remarkable show.

At a time when audiences seem to be shrugging off most conventional, cookie-cutter network sitcoms, "Arrested" has been hailed for audaciously reinventing the form while remaining completely accessible and, at all costs, just flat-out, fall-down funny.

After only six episodes had aired, the Hollywood Foreign Press Association had seen enough to nominate "Arrested" for a Golden Globe as best comedy series (it lost, but only to the equally groundbreaking Britcom "The Office"). The BBC quickly snapped up rights to air the show in the United Kingdom, where "Arrested Development" will premiere next fall. And March's TVLand Awards cable telecast included an award to "Arrested" as a "Future Classic."

For series creator Mitchell Hurwitz, however, the icing on the cake came with a midseason poll of the Television Critics Association, who named "Arrested Development" the best show on television. Not, mind you, the best new show, or the best comedy. The best show on television, bar none.

"The Television Critics Association was the most daunting of them all," says Hurwitz after a recent late night of post-production work on the season finale. "It made coming to work the next day a little nerve-wracking, because we thought: How do we live up to this?"

Ironically, there's a chance that the critical raves have scared off some members of the mainstream audience, who fear the show is somehow elitist and demanding, instead of what it really is: a hilarious family sitcom, says executive producer Ron Howard, whose Imagine Entertainment produces the series. (Howard also is the uncredited off-screen narrator.)

"This show has been fighting for its life, frankly," Howard concedes. "The network has been extraordinarily supportive, I think, but 'Arrested Development' is something new and I don't want that 'newness' to scare people off, because the show is actually very accessible and very relatable. In some ways it's unconventional, yet it works in conventional terms for anyone who wants to just kick back, relax and enjoy a funny show."

For the uninitiated, "Arrested Development" focuses on the dysfunctional Bluth family, a clan thrown into chaos when its patriarch, George Sr. (Jeffrey Tambor), is convicted of securities fraud. The only level-headed Bluth, middle son Michael (Jason Bateman), has tried to keep the family business running while his father is in jail, with very little help from his stunningly selfish mom, Lucille (Jessica Walter), or his male siblings, older brother Gob (pronounced like the Biblical Job, played by Will Arnett), a failed magician, and kid brother Buster (Tony Hale), a neurotic cartographer.

Michael does, however, get some measure of support from his twin sister, Lindsay (Portia de Rossi, "Ally McBeal"), the closest thing to a stable adult to be found anywhere else in the family.

"I don't think I am going out on a limb to say this is probably the sharpest, funniest first-year ensemble in, perhaps, ever," Howard says. "That's something for the cast to be very proud of, and Mitch is such a talent, such a distinctive comedic voice."

In this strong ensemble, however, Bateman, de Rossi and young Michael Cera - who plays Michael's teenage son, George Michael - have emerged as first among equals for their dazzling ability to flesh out their outrageous characters into credible human beings. A product of her materialistic upbringing, de Rossi's Lindsay is comically shallow and self-absorbed, yet clearly devoted to her twin, Michael. Bateman and Cera, likewise, make the most of their father-son scenes together and manage to be both funny and touching.

"Portia has an extremely difficult job, because she has one foot in the world of the lunatic with the other family members, yet as a parent and Michael's twin, she has another foot in his world, so she's a touchstone," Hurwitz says. "And she's extraordinary."

"Jason Bateman can take a scene from A to Z in four lines, and he does it effortlessly and flawlessly, with tiny expressive details. Michael Cera is the other one who does that, these microscopic little shifts in expression that tell you everything you need to know about what is going on inside George Michael.

"What's fun about a show that has this many characters, and this many family dynamics, is that there is great stuff to explore in all of the relationships, which is why it hasn't been difficult to generate stories. There are stories to tell about Michael and his beseeching younger brother, Buster, and about Michael's older brother, Gob, who is hyper-competitive. Then there's the even stranger relationship between Gob and Buster, and we haven't even really seen Lindsay and Buster, so we don't really know what that's like."

William H. Macy 'steals' Frank Sinatra Jr. in movie

Few actors have had as much success playing the underbelly of life as William H. Macy.

An Emmy Award winner as someone more admirable in "Door to Door," Macy was on the seamier side in "Fargo" and last year's critically acclaimed movie "The Cooler," and he's back in that realm by portraying one of the kidnapers of Frank Sinatra Jr. Debuting Sunday, April 25, the seriocomic Showtime film "Stealing Sinatra" casts Macy, David Arquette and Ryan Browning as the amateur abductors of aspiring singer Frank Jr. (Thomas Ian Nicholas, "American Pie") in 1963.

Written by Howard Korder ("The Passion of Ayn Rand") and directed by Ron Underwood ("City Slickers"), the story details how the trio requested a relatively modest $240,000 as ransom, how the kidnapper played by Macy bonded with Sinatra Jr., and how the post-payment actions of the criminals led to their eventual undoing.

"We made 'Stealing Sinatra' over two years ago," Macy reports. "For reasons I'm not quite clear on, they sometimes hold these things. This project came my way long before it was even written, because Howard Korder and I go back a long way. I directed a bunch of his plays in New York, and from the get-go, everyone involved was very clear that we didn't want to take advantage of Frank Sinatra Jr. - again. Our story only deals with the kidnapping and arrests, but the saga went on."

"The defense attorneys hired by the kidnapers floated the idea that the abduction may have been a publicity stunt set up by the Sinatras. That was a bold-faced lie; in fact, those attorneys spent the rest of their careers trying to keep themselves from being disbarred. The damage was done, though, and Frank Jr.'s singing career was irreparably harmed by that defense that was so ludicrous. We wanted to be respectful to him, because we wanted to make sure he wasn't victimized again."

"Stealing Sinatra" evokes the early '60s not only through its visual recreation of Vegas at the time, but also its soundtrack, encompassing everyone from the Singing Nun to beach-tune specialists Jan and Dean. In fact, the film alleges Dean Torrence (played by former "Smallville" regular Eric Johnson) was privy to the kidnapping scheme early on through his link to coconspirator Barry Keenan (Arquette's character).

"It's stranger than fiction," Macy says. "The entire plot is true, even the fact that Sinatra Sr. offered a million bucks and the kidnapers said, 'You do what we want. We want $240,000.' They gave him five minutes to get to the service station that was the original drop-off point for the ransom, when in fact, it was 45 minutes away from him. They kept calling the service station looking for Frank Sinatra, and the guy there said, 'If you don't stop making these crank calls, I'm going to call the cops.' Next thing he knew, Frank Sinatra pulled in."

"The Cooler" - starring Macy as a human bad-luck charm in Las Vegas - debuts on home video this week, and he'll be on television again opposite his wife, Felicity Huffman, and Tom Selleck in the CBS version of Scott Turrow's novel "Reversible Errors" May 23 and 25. Still, Macy insists his schedule isn't as packed as it seems: "I have a trillion things coming out this fall, but some of them are a couple of years old. Also, on something like 'Seabiscuit,' I only work a few days. The reality is that I have a lot of time on my hands."

An Emmy winner for his performance in "Door to Door," William H. Macy returns to his acting specialty - characters of questionable morality - in "Stealing Sinatra," Sunday's new Showtime movie based on the true story of three amateur kidnapers who targeted Frank Sinatra Jr. in 1963.

Value, not star power the play at 2004 Derby

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

Sure, there may be no Secretariat, Affirmed or Alydar at this year's Kentucky Derby, but there will be something of greater interest to many bettors: value.

Those who like to wager will find this year's Run for the Roses to their liking. That's because the lack of a clear favorite will give way to more than a few contenders with odds that could pay very well - if they come in the money.

"You can't help but find value," says Thoroughbred racing analyst Mike Battaglia, who will be part of NBC's coverage of the 130th Derby, which airs live from Churchill Downs in Louisville on Saturday, May 1. "No matter what you bet in the Derby, you're going to get value because there will not be a short price. So you're going to find value all over the place. I mean, it could be all 8- and 10- and 12- and 15-1 shots, because I don't think at this point anything's going to come out and grab the public's attention."

Another way to look at it: "Quite honestly, it looks like a very weak field," Battaglia says. "I mean, there are no horses that really make you want to stand up and take note, and it just looks kind of like a weak field."

So to find a winner, there are several angles to look at. Bettors who tend to gravitate toward the big-name barns, Battaglia notes, will find mixed results. "Everybody thought Nick Zito had the hot hand because he was coming in with three solid Derby con-teners, and one of them's already fallen by the way - Eurosilver's not even going to make it. Another one, Birdstone, ran horribly at Turfway Park in the Lane's End. ... If somebody would have said beforehand, 'Who's the trainer with the biggest chance to win the Derby?' they would've picked Zito. Now, you've got Todd Pletcher, who's got a couple of horses (Pollard's Vision, Limehouse and the aptly named Value Plus). Of course, they'll be long shots. (Bob Baffert, his horse Wimbledon got beat (in the Santa Anita Derby). (D. Wayne) Lukas doesn't really have a horse right now. So that's wide open too."

Those looking to play the historical angle might look at Castledale, who won the Santa Anita Derby on April 3. In the past, that race has served as something of a barometer for the Kentucky Derby, as three of its past seven winners have gone on to win at Churchill Downs. "But he's more of a turf horse," Battaglia argues. "That's his first win on the dirt, but he was 30-1 to win the Santa Anita Derby. So that just muddled the picture more than it cleared it up."

At press time, there was also an undefeated horse, but according to Battaglia, he's not exactly a sure thing. "There's a horse called Smarty Jones that hasn't lost a race. He's a Pennsylvania-bred that's been running in Arkansas, and if he wins the Arkansas Derby, he'll probably be the favorite in the Kentucky Derby, because he'll come in undefeated. And none of the horses that have gone the other route have done anything, so he'll probably be the favorite."

The Kentucky Derby is probably the toughest of the three Triple Crown races to win for several reasons, not the least of which is the size of the field, which can reach a maximum of 20. "That's one of the things that makes the Derby so hard to win, the fact that you have the overflow field," Battaglia says. "You've got so many factors. It's the first time any of these horses have gone a mile and a quarter; there's always a huge field; it's the first time they've carried 126 pounds - you know, you pack extra weight on them. All these horses come from all the different prep races. They come from different parts of the country, sometimes the 'world,' so you don't have the head-to-head competition to look at. All that makes it so tough."

But you never know. A contender can get hot at the right time and ride it through the Triple Crown series, just as Funny Cide nearly did a year ago in winning the Kentucky Derby and Preakness before finishing third in the Belmont Stakes. "He was a horse that had a chance," Battaglia recalls. "He wasn't a horse that was coming in off terrible races. He was coming in off of a very solid second to the favorite in the race, and got beat by a length in the Wood Memorial by Empire Maker. So he wasn't a horse that you could say that that was just a fluke race. No, he had been a solid horse, and he ran his race back in the Preakness and he ran a good race in the Belmont. He just got beat."

"NASCAR Racing" Sunday, April 25 (Fox, 1 p.m. ET): Forty-three lead changes highlighted last year's Aaron's 499 at Talladega Superspeedway in Alabama, but only one had people still buzzing afterward. Dale Earnhardt Jr. was accused of driving below the allowable racing area to pass Matt Kenseth with three laps to go, but NASCAR ruled otherwise, upholding Earnhardt's victory. "MLB Baseball" Sunday, April 25 (ESPN, 8 p.m. ET): One side benefit of winning the World Series is more national TV exposure the next season. For the Florida Marlins, that begins tonight when they host the Atlanta Braves. The Marlins blossomed under Jack McKeon's tutelage in 2003, riding a young pitching staff and the star-quality skill of right fielder Miguel Cabrera to the title. "PGA Golf" Thursday, April 29 (USA Network, 4 p.m. ET): Steve Flesch joined the ranks of PGA Tour winners with an impressive comeback in last year's HP Classic of New Orleans, which begins anew today from English Turn Golf and Country Club. Flesch made up seven shots to assume a share of the lead, then beat Bob Estes on the first playoff hole with a 35-foot birdie putt. English Turn ends its 16-year association with the PGA this week.

Steve Flesch defends his championship in the HP Classic of New Orleans.

Ultimate Tree House

If you couldn't swing from a vine like Tarzan, at least you could have a house in the trees, right? In this special, relatives and friends join forces to build the perfect tree house for someone who always wanted one. Of course, bigger houses will have to be built to accommodate the former kids who are now adults.

Sunday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Cold Case

Lilly and Valens (Kathryn Morris, Danny Pino) try to help a teenager (guest star Ashton Holmes) whose mother was murdered in front of him 14 years earlier in the new episode "Maternal Instincts." The young man's nightmares incorporate evidence from the crime, exposing the sort of life he led with his mother. Michael Nouri ("Flashdance") and Heidi Bohay ("Hotel") also guest star.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Malcolm in the Middle

Hal and Lois (Bryan Cranston, Jane Kaczmarek) both play matchmaker for their baby's sitter (guest star Julie Hagerty, "Airplane!") in the new episode "Polly in the Middle." She has several dates with both of the men (guest stars David Anthony Higgins and Gary Anthony Williams) picked for her, and they wind up getting into a fight over her. Baseball great Reggie Jackson appears as himself.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Alias

Sydney (Jennifer Garner) learns her half-sister, Nadia (guest star Mia Maestro, "Frida"), is vital to solving the Rambaldi mystery in the new episode "Blood Ties." Sloan (Ron Rifkin), Nadia's father, could be of help in locating her. Also eager to find her are Lauren and Sark (Melissa George, David Anders), who kidnap and torture Vaughn (Michael Vartan). Richard Roundtree ("Shaft") also guest stars.

8 p.m. on HBO

The Sopranos

Carmela's (Edie Falco) father is the guest of honor at a birthday party at the Soprano residence. In the new episode "Marco Polo," Johnny Sack (Vincent Curatola) can't contain his pride over his new mode of transportation. Phil Leotardo (Frank Vincent) seeks car repairs at a familiar site. Tony B. (Steve Buscemi) ponders moonlighting.

8:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Arrested Development

George Sr.'s (Jeffrey Tambor) heart attack draws the family to the hospital, where they learn he has left and is en route to Mexico. In the season-ending episode "Let 'Em Eat Cake," Lindsay (Portia de Rossi) changes her mind about Tobias (David Cross) when he scores a best-selling book. Buster and Anyong (Tony Hale, Justin Lee) vie for the same women. Henry Winkler guest stars.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Crossing Jordan

Woody and Bug (Jerry O'Connell, Ravi Kapoor) have differing takes on the murder of a reporter (guest star Christopher Goodman) who was working on a story about a young prostitute in the new episode "All the News Fit to Print." Macy (Miguel Ferrer) faces a lawsuit after failing to save a hit-and-run victim's life, and Devan's (Jennifer Finnigan) subsequent autopsy reveals more information.

All My Children

Ryan and Kendall convinced Bianca that Miranda is dead and the baby she took from the hospital is Bess. Tad persuaded Joe to secretly perform a DNA test on Bess, but the results proved that Bess is Babe and J.R.'s daughter. However, Krystal went to the crash site and privately revealed that she knows the child who died was Babe's, not Bianca's. Edmund's surgeon saw something alarming while performing the procedure, fuming to find out that Danielle has been staying with Reggie. Derek went to arrest him until Danielle talked her father out of it. Reggie then wanted nothing more to do with Danielle. Both having trust issues, Kendall and Ryan set out to test each other. Coming: Erica and Bobby form a bond.

As the World Turns

As Barbara convinced Jordan to stay at BRO, Rosanna and Jennifer competed for his romantic attention. When Jack caught Rosanna in a lie, he vowed to get more information about her and the kidnapping. Paul discovered that Barbara had papers giving BRO authority to Jordan and confronted her about them. Nancy realized Alison is lying to Chris about her job at Metro, but when Alison begged Nancy to keep her secret, she agreed. Coming: Jordan reacts to Jennifer's kiss.

Bold and Beautiful

When Nick proposed to Brooke for the third time in front of everyone at the party, she finally accepted, then went on a small vacation with Nick and Hope. Brooke admitted to Nick that she accepted out of pressure, but insisted she's happy. Meanwhile, Ridge exploded upon learning the news and washed his hands of the Marone family, taking off their ring. Eric kept up the pressure on Stephanie to admit why she wants Brooke to be with Nick, until Stephanie confessed that she'll never accept Brooke or forgive her for the pain she's caused their family. Coming: Ridge tries to move on with his life.

Days of Our Lives

Father Jansen performed an exorcism to see if Marlena is possessed again, but this time he said she wasn't, and Bo arrested her for murder. In prison, Marlena was accused of stabbing another inmate to death, and to clear her name, Marlena agreed to take truth serum. Hearing this, Nicole panicked and rushed to stop Marlena before she reveals that Nicole murdered Victor. Fearing that Kate would be able to get Will away from her, Sami got drunk, but Lucas stayed at her side. Lucas and Sami finally admitted their love and desire for each other, and gave in to their passion. Coming: Lucas and Sami try to keep their romantic secret.

General Hospital

Jason and Alcazar were forced to team up to rescue Michael from the well. Although on the road to divorce, when Michael's condition deteriorated and he required surgery, Sonny vowed that he and Carly would get back together if Michael recovers. Meanwhile, Sam feared she might be pregnant. Deciding to be a good husband to Mary, Nikolas grew closer to her and they became passionate, even as Emily turned to Lucky for comfort in dealing with her emotions. Ned announced he's reviving L&B Records, and offered a delighted Dillon a job. Coming: Nikolas sees Emily with Mary.

Guiding Light

After Robbie was ridiculed by his playmates about the scandal, Danny became fed up and confessed to Michelle that he started his legitimate business with mob money, and the only way to save himself, Tony and Cassie from prosecution is if he goes undercover. While Michelle reeled, Danny told Jeffrey he's ready. Phillip underwent the ECT treatment and came out with a much clearer head, as well as a plan to deal with Olivia. Lizzie looked on as Tammy impulsively kissed Edmund, then hinted to Tammy what she had observed. As Lizzie's jealousy of Tammy increased, she began to focus on Joey. Coming: Olivia is unnerved by Phillip's behavior.

One Life to Live

After Todd gave Kelly more money when Paul put pressure on her again, he realized that she transferred money from Buchanan Enterprises into her and Kevin's personal account. Michael was hospitalized with a broken leg from his fall and saw Dr. Long giving money to Paul. Doñan confessed to David that she's still married to Adriana's father but really isn't Adriana's mother. Kathryn was revealed to be Caitlin's sister. Starr made plans to meet with Travis and decided to run away with him. R.J. hired a lawyer to pursue Antonio for breaking the custody agreement, then got Rex to sign a loan that's in R.J.'s favor. Coming: Kevin gets shocking news about Kelly.

Passions

Pushed to his breaking point by Luis' persistence at trying to persuade Sheridan that she loves him, Antonio fired at Luis with Alistair's gun. While Luis planned to expose the Cranes once he has the CD-ROMs decoded, Sheridan felt responsible for Antonio being on the outs with his family and decided to leave town. Theresa's shocking plan left Ethan and Gwen in a tailspin, as she stood firm in her demand to have her son back. Ivy dealt with insecurities about her own love life as she pushed Charity to go after Miguel. Eve gave Pilar a stern warning about her health. Coming: Eve can't contain her feelings for Julian.

Young and Restless

Nikki was stunned when Victor suggested having Abby live with them. Mac unexpectedly returned to town and, noting the alcohol on Kay's breath, believed Jill was to blame. When Nick refused to help Neil in his transition to CEO of Newman Enterprises, Victor warned Nick that if he walks out, his career is over. Dru went against Olivia's advice and decided to test the hair straightener on herself to prove to Jack and Ashley that it's valuable. When Neil told his private eye that Angelo was the one who saw Kevin the night Brittany was electrocuted, the investigator accused Angelo of lying. J.T. prepared a romantic surprise for Colleen that erased her doubts. Coming: Not everyone is pleased with Brittany's decision to sing again.

Soap Talk

Whew! Talk about your bad girls

By Paulette Cohn
© Zap2it

What do "Days of Our Lives" and "Passions" stars Andrea Evans, Lauren Koslow, Heidi Mueller, Alison Sweeney, Kim Johnston Ulrich, and Arianne Zucker have in common? They play women who get what they want in the bedroom and the boardroom!

When asked if they were bad girls, all but one of them agreed with Zucker when she said, "Nicole isn't bad, she's just misunderstood." Only Sweeney owned up to her evil ways, saying, "Sami is bad. She knows she has issues."

The crowd at the recent NBC-Telemundo Fan Festival at Universal City Walk in Los Angeles agreed. Sweeney was voted as the baddest of the bad, with Koslow (Kate Roberts, "Days") and Evans (Rebecca Crane, "Passions") tying for second place.

Once that issue was resolved, the inquiring minds in the audience wanted to know when Sami and Lucas - played by Bryan R. Dattilo - were going to get back together. Sweeney was quick to point out, "They never really were a couple." (Which didn't keep them from having a son together out of a one-night stand.)

Then Zucker was asked if it was hard for her to play scenes with Kyle Lowder (Brady, "Days"), since he is her husband. She says, "We met in a professional place, so we try to keep it characters. It's Nicole and Brady, not Arianne and Kyle."

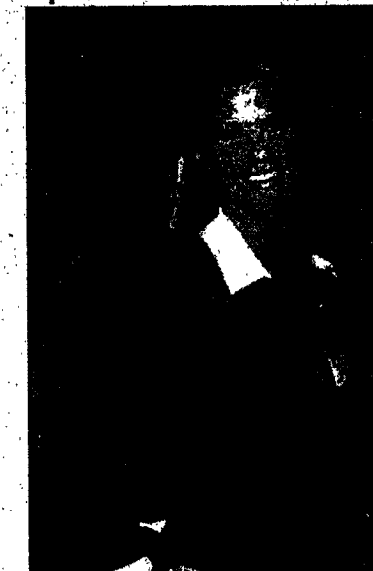

But the big question on the fans' minds, which also is reflected in a large number of letters that Soap Talk has received, is what is happening in Salem? Here is a sample:

Dear Paulette: Just wondering why so many people are being killed on "Days of Our Lives." Is the show coming to an end, or is this some bad dream? -Arlene Davis, Millville, Pa.

Dear Reader: Here is what Koslow had to say: "It is a tough question to answer. Every show lets people go. The beauty is our head writer is making the exits part of the story line. It is sad they are going. We all feel badly. But they are getting the chance to do some great work." And Sweeney points out, "Ghosts are frequently seen in Salem these days."

Movie: The Sixth Sense

A recognized child psychologist (Bruce Willis) tries to help a boy (Haley Joel Osment, nominated for a best supporting actor Oscar) haunted by ghosts. In the end, he realizes the gifted child may just know more than he does and can help him close a painful chapter from his own past. M. Night Shyamalan directed this 1999 thriller, which became the principal " sleeper" hit of its year; Toni Collette co-stars.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

7th Heaven

On their first anniversary, Lucy and Kevin (Beverly Mitchell, George Stults) consider starting a family in the new episode "High and Dry." Cecilia (Ashlee Simpson) isn't sure her romance with Martin (Tyler Hoechlin) will survive her going away to college. After Peter (Scotty Leavenworth) disappears, Eric (Stephen Collins) finds him drinking with some friends.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Las Vegas

A thief lifts $5 million in diamonds from a Montecito guest in the new episode "Family Jewels." Trying to find the culprit and recover the gems, Danny (Josh Duhamel) enlists Mike (James Lesure), who becomes obsessed with solving the crime on his own. Sam (Vanessa Marcil) worries about a gambler whose fiancée declares he never will place a bet again. A psychologist analyzes Ed's (James Caan) security team.

Names such as Jim Bowie and Davy Crockett have strong links to the 1836 battle at the Alamo, but Mexicans who lived in Texas were the first to defend the state's sovereignty. "Remember the Alamo" recalls the fight by Jose Antonio Navarro and a group of Tejanos against forces led by Mexican President Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna, who was loyal to the Spanish government intent on maintaining control of Texas. Hector Elizondo narrates.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

8 Simple Rules

The use of a police dog in a prank yields much more than anticipated in "Consequences." Rory (Martin Spanners) takes the canine to prove himself to peers, but the pooch locates marijuana — and Kerry (Amy Davidson) appears to be the owner. To Cate's (Katey Sagal) alarm, Bridget (Kaley Cuoco) resists wearing a helmet when she rides with her beau on his motorcycle.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Gilmore Girls

Lorelai (Lauren Graham) has a showdown with Richard (Edward Herrmann) over his treatment of Jason (Chris Eigeman), now his ex-business partner, in the new episode "Afternoon." Rory (Alexis Bledel) and Lorelai realize the status of the marriage of Emily (Kelly Bishop) and Richard. Luke (Scott Patterson) reveals to Lorelai that he and Nicole (Tricia O'Kelley) are divorcing.

7 p.m. on 19-PBS

Nova

"Lost Treasures of Tibet" travels to the tiny kingdom of Mustang, along the northern border of Nepal. Mustang is the home to the monastery of Thubchen, itself home to expressive medieval wall paintings. But centuries of leaky roofs and smoky lamps have taken a toll, and it's up to a team of architects and art conservators to restore these treasures of Tibetan Buddhist art.

Jack (Kiefer Sutherland) gets the potential to turn the tables on Saunders (guest star Paul Blackthorne) and end the virus crisis in the new episode "Day 3: 8:00 AM — 9:00 AM." President Palmer (Dennis Haysbert) remains under Saunders' thumb for the moment, though, and must agree to his demands to prevent the virus from being released elsewhere.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

The Guardian

As Nick's (Simon Baker) required duty at Legal Services of Pittsburgh draws to a close, his final cases aren't simple or quiet ones in the new episode "Blood In, Blood Out." While in detention, two young men being represented by Nick have a fight. The Fallin & Fallin partners ponder whether Nick should remain in their firm as a vote on the matter approaches.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Frasier

With Charlotte's (guest star Laura Linney) move to Chicago nearing, Frasier (Kelsey Grammer) ponders the chances of survival for a long-distance relationship with her in the new episode "Detour." They have plenty of time to discuss the matter when they're stranded at the home of a rural family. Niles (David Hyde Pierce) tries to arrange the entertainment for Martin's (John Mahoney) bachelor party.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

Innovation

The fiber-optic revolution is considered in the new episode "Light Speed," which details technology's impact on the communications industry. Consider the growth of cable systems: how capable of relaying several different variations of the same network, or the videophones that have been used by reporters covering the situation in Iraq. Those are but two examples of the advancements made possible by fiber optics.

9 p.m. on 26-ABC

NYPD Blue

A drastically reformed ex-addict who became a devout churchgoer is killed, making a pastor and the father of a slain girl the prime suspects, in the new episode "Traylor Trash." Clark (Mark-Paul Gosselaar) gets a surprising visit at the precinct from ex-girlfriend Jennifer Devlin (guest star Chandra West), who clearly is out of sorts. Lance Guest ("The Last Starfighter") also guest stars.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

Judging Amy

A teenager accused of killing her baby sitter poses a courtroom dilemma for Amy (Amy Brenneman) in the new episode "Slade's Chophouse." Not only is circumstantial evidence presented, but the girl has a prior record. Photos wrongly given to Ignacio (guest star Cheech Marin) clue Maxine (Tyne Daly) into a possible abuse case. Carolyn McCormick ("Law & Order") also guest stars.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

Stabler and Benson (Christopher Meloni, Mariska Hargitay) investigate a woman after she is discovered bound and almost suffocated — and possibly raped — in her bed in the new episode "Painless." She then commits suicide while being treated in a hospital emergency room, prompting the police detectives to wonder about her apparent link to a physician (guest star Marlee Matlin).

Wednesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

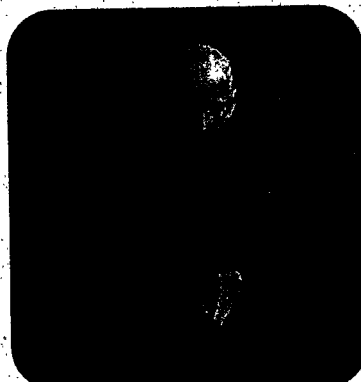

That '70s Show

Despite their pledge of premarital celibacy, Eric and Donna (Topher Grace, Laura Prepon) decide to break it secretly for just one night in the new episode "Squeeze Box." Before that evening can occur, Mitch (guest star Seth Green) shocks Donna with something he tells her about Eric. Red and Hyde (Kurtwood Smith, Danny Masterson) get a new view of Pamela (guest star Brooke Shields).

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Smallville

Desperate to regain what he believes to be incriminating memories of his father (John Glover), Lex (Michael Rosenbaum) submits to an experimental program in the new episode "Memoria." Clark (Tom Welling) fears that Lex will unlock not only the information about the elder Luthor, but also Clark's full history. In trying to stop the treatment, Clark is caught and subjected to the same process.

Michael Rosenbaum

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The O.C.

Caleb (guest star Alan Dale) revs up for his wedding to Julie (Melinda Clarke) by spending a few days in Las Vegas, where Seth and Ryan (Adam Brody, Benjamin McKenzie) meet up with him, in the new episode "The Strip." Kirsten (Kelly Rowan) isn't happy about having to stage Julie's bach-elorette party. Marissa (Mischa Barton) is stunned by what she learns about Teresa (guest star Navi Rawat).

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Angel

A sudden, uncontrollable binge of time-traveling has Illyria (Amy Acker) aware that others intend to kill her — making her determined to kill them first in the new episode "Time Bomb." Angel (David Boreanaz) is among her targets, and he goes into the past with her to manipulate the events otherwise destined to spell tragedy for one of them. Jaime Bergman ("Son of the Beach"), the wife of series star Boreanaz, guest stars.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

The West Wing

On the evening of a black-tie dinner, the White House is placed under quarantine when a strange substance is determined to be inside in the new episode "No Exit." The situation draws out existing tensions among some staff members, with Toby (Richard Schiff) resentful of Will's (Joshua Malina) presumed duplicity against the president (Martin Sheen). C.J. (Allison Janney) gives Donna (Janel Moloney) professional advice.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

American Masters

The life and times of the co-founder of Time magazine are recounted in the new 90-minute episode "Henry Luce & Time-Life's America: A Vision of Empire," narrated by Scott Simon of National Public Radio. Actor Harris Yulin ("Clear and Present Danger") voices the words of Luce, who built a media dynasty also encompassing the publications Life and Fortune. He became controversial for his views on China, the Cold War and Vietnam.

8 p.m. on HALL

Movie: The Long Way Home

Oscar-winning actor Jack Lemmon made a TV appearance in this 1998 drama, playing a senior citizen who receives a letter from a former flame (Betty Garrett). It inspires him to embark on a hitchhiking trek to visit her. The Kansas to California trip includes the company of a wealthy young woman (Sarah Paulson).

8:45 p.m. on TMC

Movie: Barbershop

One of the "sleeper" hits of 2002, this boisterous comedy stars Ice Cube as a Chicago resident who sells the less-than-flourishing barbershop he inherited from his late father. Then he has second thoughts about having turned the ownership over to a loan shark.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

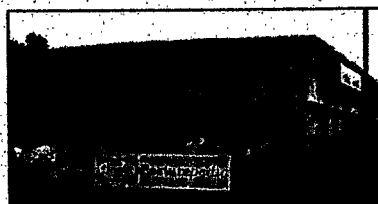

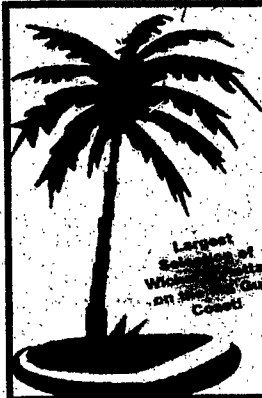

The murder of a Japanese tourist prompts Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) to question the victim's husband in the new episode "Gajjin." A suspect's arrest casts doubt on the supposedly grieving widower, leading the police detectives and prosecutors to consider a possible conspiracy behind the slaying.

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX
Tru Calling

The series ends its season with the two-hour episode, "D.O.A./Two Weddings and a Funeral," as Tru (Eliza Dushku) develops conflicting feelings about Jack's (Jason Priestley) ability to "rewind" to the previous day just like she can. Happy at first to know someone else has the same gift, her tune changes when she realizes Jack actually is working against her.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC
Friends

The sitcom's next-to-last episode, "The One With Rachel's Going Away Party," finds the Paris-bound guest of honor (Jennifer Aniston) giving a separate, very personal goodbye to each of her closest friends — except for one. Monica (Courteney Cox Arquette) takes a no-nonsense approach to her move to her new home, and also to the mother (guest star Anna Faris) of the forthcoming child Monica and Chandler (Matthew Perry) plan to adopt.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Stephen King's Kingdom Hospital

A retired, suicidal baseball player's stay at Kingdom Hospital causes a revival of the past for many other people — some of whom are no longer living — in the new episode "Butterfingers," written by series creator Stephen King.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: Crime Scene Investigation

During an annual race for law enforcers, one entrant dies along the route while another's body is found at a hotel — where two policemen have been killed — in the new episode "Dead Ringer." Some of the CSI investigators, who also were running, become suspects while trying to solve the cases. Sara and Warrick (Jorja Fox, Gary Dourdan) focus on the police officers' deaths, which may have been a murder-suicide.

8:05 p.m. on 6-NBC

Will & Grace

To make room for the finales of "Friends" and "Frasier" on subsequent Thursdays, this Emmy-winning sitcom ends its sixth season a little early — but it's going out with a bang in the guest-star department. The hour-long episode "I Do, Oh, No, You Di-in't."

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Movie: Lara Croft: Tomb Raider

An impressively athletic Angelina Jolie becomes the human embodiment of the video-game heroine in this 2001 adventure. Croft's quest to recover artifacts pits her against a villain (Iain Glen) who wants to control time. She seeks a key that can help her quash that scheme. Jon Voight, Jolie's real-life father, co-stars as Croft's dad.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

George Lopez

A recent "According to Jim" story was filmed aboard a Disney cruise ship, and this show also maintains the Disney-ABC synergy with the new episode "George Goes to Disneyland." Initially, George (George Lopez, who also wrote the tale) doesn't want to go to the theme park with his family. He eventually relents and asks Benny (Belita Moreno) to give him a ride to the reputed "Happiest Place on Earth,"

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Joan of Arcadia

Following a heavenly order for her to work on the school yearbook, Joan (Amber Tamblyn) uses the assignment to try to lure Adam (Christopher Marquette) away from Iris (Misti Traya) in the new episode "Anonymous." Joan tries to display an aptitude for photography, but the results are far from what she hoped for. Will (Joe Mantegna) tries to set a trap for a man who is scheming to have his own wife murdered.

7 p.m. on AMC

Movie: Joe Kidd

One of Clint Eastwood's best post-"Man With No Name" Westerns, this 1972 saga finds Kidd (Eastwood) hired by a tycoon named Frank Harlan (Robert Duvall). The gunman's mission is to rid the Harlan's area of some allegedly unsavory neighbors, until he learns his employer is the real villain. The result is his rather creative use of a train in retaliation. John Saxon also appears.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Hope & Faith

Guest star Robert Wagner returns as the siblings' father — and works with another veteran, Tony Curtis — in the new episode "Jack's Back." Dad's fiancée has left him, so he pays a visit to Hope and Faith (Faith Ford, Kelly Ripa), and begins dating Faith's friend Mandi (Jenny McCarthy). Fearing Mandi will hurt her father, Faith dates Mandi's dad (Curtis) in retaliation.

Faith Ford, Tony Curtis

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

JAG

A court of inquiry debate over court-martialing a general (guest star William Russ, "Boy Meets World") puts Harm and Mac (David James Elliott, Catherine Bell) on opposing sides in the new episode "Fighting Words." The general is accused of having made inflammatory comments about Islam while in church — and while in uniform, a prime concern for Marine Corps officials. Dean Stockwell also guest stars.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Grounded for Life

Adam Brody moonlights from his role as Seth on "The O.C." to guest star as Brad's (Bret Harrison) new manager at work in the new episode "Get a Job." Lily (Lynsey Bartilson) is upset to learn how badly Brad is being treated on the job. Sean and Eddie (Donal Logue, Kevin Fitzgerald, Corrigan) hire their father (Richard Riehle), then quickly come to regret it. Kristin Dattilo also guest stars.

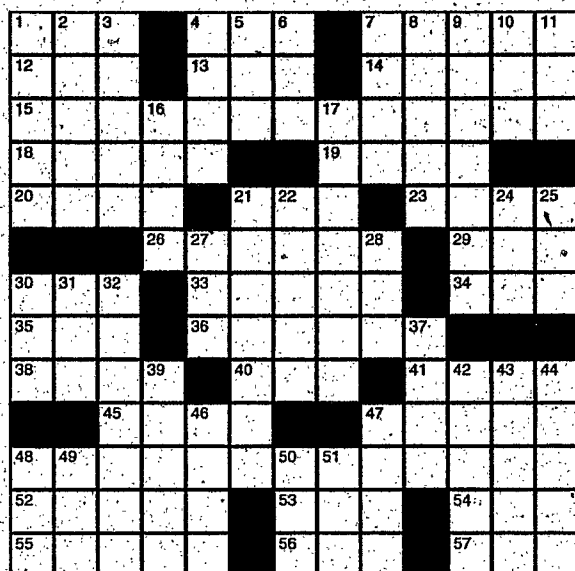

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Third Watch

The discovery of a headless torso ultimately translates into tragedy for one of the police officers in the new episode "Higher Calling." Yokas (Molly Price) unwittingly threatens the stability of her own home life when she suspects child abuse on the part of a lawyer and his dysfunctional wife (guest stars Henry Winkler and Kate Jackson).

Saturday Best Bets

4 p.m. on 6-NBC Horse Racing

What has been a muddled picture this Thoroughbred racing season begins to clear today after the 130th running of the Kentucky Derby from Churchill Downs in Louisville, Ky. The wide-open Run for the Roses features two Bob Baffert-trained entries in Louisiana Derby winner Wimbledon and Preachin'atthebar, who won the San Felipe Stakes. Others who have a chance to fare well at the 1 1/4-mile distance are Smarty Jones and The Cliff's Edge.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC Movie: Remember the Titans

Denzel Washington scored one of his biggest box-office successes to date with this true 2000 drama from the Disney studio. The actor plays a high-school football coach in charge of integrating the facility's first multi-racial team in 1971. The assignment gives him plenty to smooth over with students, their parents and other faculty members. Will Patton, Donald Faison ("Scrubs") and Nicole Ari Parker co-star.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC Movie: Twister

Even though the plot contains holes big enough to shoo a monster cyclone through, don't miss the terrifying and often sublime computer-generated storms in this 1996 thriller about teams of tornado chasers who vie for ground-breaking information on the violent storms. Helen Hunt and Bill Paxton are appealing in the lead roles; Cary Elwes and Jami Gertz ("Still Standing") also star.

7 p.m. on AMC

Movie: Once Upon a Time in the West

Regarded by many critics as "spaghetti" Western director Sergio Leone's masterpiece, this 1968 saga is notable for its casting of typical screen good guy Henry Fonda as a savage gunman. His presence means nothing good for a woman (Claudia Cardinale) whose inherited land stands in the way of the railroad he works for. Jason Robards, Charles Bronson, Gabriele Ferzetti, Jack Elam and Keenan Wynn co-star.

Helen Hunt and Bill Paxton

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: The Matrix Reloaded

Visual innovations remain the high points of this 2003 middle chapter of the filmmaking Wachowski brothers' sci-fi trilogy. Neo (Keanu Reeves) and his principal comrades, Morpheus and Trinity (Laurence Fishburne, Carrie-Anne Moss), must save their world from machines. Neo especially is concerned about Trinity, whom his dreams suggest is doomed. Hugo Weaving also returns; Jada Pinkett Smith and Monica Bellucci are cast additions.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

The District

Noland (Roger Aaron Brown) is seriously wounded while implementing Mannion's (Craig T. Nelson) campaign against gang warfare in the new episode "Open Season." Mannion seeks the services of a surgeon who could prevent Noland from being permanently paralyzed. Debreño and Temple (Jonathan LaPaglia, Sean Patrick Thomas) are joined by the Gang Task Force leader (guest star Geoffrey Rival) to seek the shooter.

8 p.m. on 49-PAX

Movie: I'll Be Seeing You

Alison Eastwood, daughter of legendary actor-director Clint, stars in this new adaptation of a Mary Higgins Clark mystery novel. Eastwood actually has two roles, since she plays a woman baffled by the murder of someone who looks exactly like her. The ensuing investigation involves her businessman father, insurance money, a fertility clinic, and a parking valet who is obsessed with her.

9 p.m. on TNT

Movie: The Fifth Element

Bruce Willis stars in this French-made, futuristic 1997 action film. After a prologue about a set of five totems discovered in 1914, the action leaps forward 300 years. With a planet headed for impact with Earth, an evil overlord (Gary Oldman) prepares to battle a high priest (Ian Holm) with knowledge of the totems. Willis, a flying-taxi driver, lends his fists to the fray. Milla Jovovich and Luke Perry also star.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"LOVE ACTUALLY": The same charm writer-director Richard Curtis gave his scripts for "Four Weddings and a Funeral" and "Notting Hill" is present in this engaging romantic comedy, which boasts a first-rate ensemble cast. Frequent Curtis collaborator Hugh Grant plays England's prime minister, who falls for a stunned employee (Martine McCutcheon). Other criss-crossing subplots star Emma Thompson, Liam Neeson, Laura Linney, Colin Firth, Alan Rickman and Keira Knightley ("Pirates of the Caribbean: The Curse of the Black Pearl"). Co-star Bill Nighy provides hilarious musical commentary on a soundtrack that also features Norah Jones and Kelly Clarkson. DVD extras: audio commentary by Curtis, Grant, Nighy and co-star Thomas Sangster; Curtis' introductions to the film's music; deleted scenes; music video.  (R: AS, P)

"BIG FISH": Director Tim Burton takes his typical approach of blurring the line between fantasy and reality in this visually stunning drama. On his deathbed, an exaggerator (Albert Finney) relates more tall tales of his allegedly colorful past to his estranged son (Billy Crudup), who has been lured back home by the lady of the house (Jessica Lange). Ewan McGregor and Alison Lohman ("Matchstick Men") have the Finney and Lange roles in prolonged flashbacks; Helena Bonham Carter and Danny

DeVito co-star. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentary by Burton; "making-of" documentaries; character-profile featurettes; trivia quiz.  (PG-13: AS, N, P)

"STUCK ON YOU": The notion of conjoined siblings gets irreverent treatment from filmmaking brothers Peter and Bobby Farrelly - the mentors of "There's Something About Mary," which should tell you everything you need to know - in this sweet-natured yet off-color comedy. Matt Damon and Greg Kinnear play the brothers who share a body while exhibiting very different attitudes and aspirations. The relative played by Kinnear wants to leave Martha's Vineyard to find success in Hollywood, so Damon goes along ... hardly by choice. Cher appears as herself; Eva Mendes ("Out of Time") and Seymour Cassel co-star. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentary by the Farrellys; "making-of" documentaries; deleted scenes; bloopers; TV spots.  (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"THE COOLER": Bad luck turns out to be good luck for a ne'er-do-well (the typically excellent William H. Macy). He casts his misfortune on other Las Vegas gamblers to pay off a debt to a casino manager (Alec Baldwin, in an Oscar-nominated performance) in director and co-writer Wayne Kramer's smart comedy-drama. An unexpected romance with a woman (Maria Bello) hired to keep the hapless fellow on track ends his losing streak, posing bigger problems for him. Paul Sorvino, Ron Livingston ("Band of Brothers") and Joey Fatone ("My Big Fat Greek Wedding") co-star. DVD extras: audio commentary by Kramer and crew members; "Anatomy of a Scene" documentary; deleted scenes; alternate ending (in text form); isolated music-only track; storyboards.  (R: AS, N, P, V)

"GHOSTS OF THE ABYSS": Filmmaker James Cameron returns to the sunken wreckage of the Titanic, along with actor Bill Paxton, scientists and historians. The exploration remains in this documentary, originally shown theatrically in the IMAX format. Beyond the plentiful footage shot with state-of-the-art equipment, the film also presents recreations of what happened during the last hours of the luxury liner's famously tragic 1912 voyage. DVD extras: original and expanded versions; "making-of" documentary; multiple-camera-angle feature.  (G)

"LOVE DON'T COST A THING": A revision of the 1987 movie "Can't Buy Me Love," this enjoyable comedy casts Nick Cannon ("Drumline") as a smart high-school loner who sees his ticket to the "in" crowd via a popular peer (Christina Milian). After she demolishes her mother's car, he agrees to donate his repair expertise if she'll pretend to be his girlfriend. He quickly gets carried away with his newly heightened status. Steve Harvey and Vanessa Bell Calloway co-star. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; "making-of" documentary; deleted scenes; alternate ending; music videos.  (PG-13: AS, P)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"CALENDAR GIRLS" (May 4): Helen Mirren and Julie Walters star in the true story of Englishwomen who start a worldwide craze with a calendar showing them nude. (PG-13: AS, N, P)

"CHASING LIBERTY" (May 4): The daughter (Mandy Moore) of the U.S. president (Mark Harmon) decides to go AWOL during an overseas trip. (PG: AS, P, V)

"GIRL WITH A PEARL EARRING" (May 4): Scarlett Johansson plays a domestic who becomes the inspiration for a timeless painting by Johannes Vermeer (Colin Firth). (PG-13: AS, P)

On TV

'Plainsong' sings a quiet tune about friendship and loyalty

"Plainsong," a Hallmark Hall of Fame movie on CBS Sunday, April 25, is notable for what it is not. And by avoiding a stereotypical bent, "Plainsong" becomes what it is - a lovely, introspective film.

The movie, based on the Kent Haruf best seller, could have gone the way of shows that ridicule rural people as bumbling bumpkins. Instead, "Plainsong" shows them as compassionate and self-reliant.

"You don't get to do too many things that have this many characters from small communities," says Aidan Quinn ("Legends of the Fall"), who stars as Tom, a high-school teacher. "It's like the place I live in upstate (New York). Rural people are completely and utterly under-represented in the media, in films and in television. I have spent a fair amount of time in small communities, and lived in them, and I thought this was really nice, the mosaic of all these characters."

It is indeed a mosaic as characters leading separate lives in rural Colorado (the film was shot in Utah) forge strong bonds. Just because the camera lingers on beautiful open skies and fields, does not mean this is a Norman Rockwell interpretation of America.

Rather, Tom's wife, Ella (Megan Follows, "Anne of Green Gables"), falls into a deep depression and leaves him with their two young sons (Cody Arens, Mick Hazen). Tom also has problems in school, as the star basketball player is a failing student of his and the principal pressures Tom to pass the nasty jock.

Another student, Victoria (America Ferrera, "Real Women Have Curves"), is pregnant at 17, and the father is, at least at first, out of her life. Soon, her mother is as well when she kicks Vicky out of their trailer. With nowhere to go, she knocks on the door of her sympathetic teacher, Maggie (Rachel Griffiths, "Six Feet Under"). Maggie, who cares for her sick father, can't keep Vicky indefinitely.

So she comes up with the notion to have Vicky live on a farm with two old bachelor brothers, Raymond and Harold McPherson (Geoffrey Lewis, "A Painted House," William Andrews, "Spies Like Us"). Maggie never tries to take Vicky to social services or have her kicked out of school. She simply and quietly helps her.

"In the small towns, you have to rely more on your own resources," Griffiths says as she nurses her 5-month-old son,

Banjo. "There is no kind of passing the buck."

"Plainsong" also stars Tony Award winner Marian Seldes, who turns in a brilliant performance as Iva, the town spinster. Tom's boys encounter Iva while collecting their paper-route money, and even though Iva intimidates the boys at first, they come to trust her. She bakes with them, and when they see a photo of her when she was young and pretty, they realize she was not always an old lady spending her days home alone. In Iva, they find a real friend.

The movie has a number of emotionally harsh scenes, such as when the boys make a discovery that could haunt them forever. Luckily, they always have their dad to lean on. And Tom has Maggie, though it takes him quite a while to realize.

"I think he's a little bit in a fog," Quinn says of Tom. "He is a very decent guy trying to do the right thing. Obviously, there is a woundedness to him. His wife is struggling with mental illness and he is struggling to raise the boys and maintain his manhood."

Though no doormat, Maggie has enough wisdom to encourage their friendship, take care of her dad, and be supportive of Vicky. "She is the kind of woman you really want as your best friend," Griffiths says. "She is resolute. You know that when she says the sky is blue, it is."

Ultimately, the old bachelor farmers become the teenage mother's surrogate family. The quiet dad raises his boys knowing there's a possibility that a divorced teacher may join their lives. Regardless of what the future brings to these characters, they are making it.

"Hallmark would probably be aghast at me for saying this," Griffiths says. "For me, the ideal family unit may well be two adults in a very longtime relationship, in terms of providing a safe and secure environment for the kids. But unfortunately, that's not the reality for a lot of kids. And we have to start supporting alternative families. The foster system is so burdened. At the same time, you have incredibly loving and stable gay couples who would love to foster children, and the system judges that would not be moral, or for the good of the child. And, in the meantime, you have the child winding up in the streets. These things really have to change."

A cynic might say there is little action in the film, but anyone who watches closely sees many lives change during the two hours. Sometimes, change is painful, but ultimately the characters benefit.
